THIRTY-EIGHTH YEAR

LIMA, OHIO, TUESDAY, MARCH 6, 1923

PRICE THREE CENTS

AUTO SHOW IS OPENED

GAS SCARE BUNK, SAY OIL MEN

Usual Political Play Seen in High Price Prediction.

LOW RATE PREVAILS IN U. S.

Shortage of Gasoline in Next 50 Years Not Feared.

Standard Oil officials of the transportation, buying, refining and retailing ends of that company refused to be quoted Tuesday in answer to Senator La Follette's sensational committee report on gasoline. Oil men seen by The Lima News, however, branded the investigation as the usual political play to the masses. Independent oil men, operators in the field, frankly state there will never be a time when gasoline will reach as high as 40c the gallon.

"Dollar gasoline is perfectly ridiculous," said an old time oil king. "If it were not for the pipe lines and distributing organizations of the various big oil companies, gas could not be sold to the consumer at double the price you pay at the filling station."

U. S. HAS LOW GAS

"Attempts of the government to break up these organizations would result almost immediately in higher costs. America enjoys the lowest gasoline prices in the world and is the largest consumer. It always will enjoy a moderate price for gas, which is lower on heat and power units today than coal.

"Politicians always have a theoretical panacea, but the panacea always proves wrong in practice. Paternalism on the part of any government costs the public great sums of money. The hope of America is in individual effort. There has not been a mile of railroad built in this country since the government started in early this century to handicap railroads. The same thing has happened in coal, and will happen in anything on which there is a governmental supervision."

Lima oil men predict there will be no shortage of gasoline for the next half century and that peak prices will never reach those of war days.

SHOT BY NEPHEW

Ohio City Man Is Killed Accidently.

Kenneth H. Brown, 22, of Ohio City, came to his death as the result of an accidental gun-shot, according to the verdict of Coroner Wilbur Beach.

Brown was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brown, and was manager of the Brown Brothers Manufacturing company. A nephew had been playing with a .22 calibre revolver, it was said, and Brown took it away from him. The manner of the shooting is not known, as no one was present at the time.

Brown is survived by five brothers and five sisters.

20 JUSTICES OF THE PEACE MAY BE INDICTED

CLEVELAND — At least 20 indictments against justices of the peace and their agents, operating as prohibition enforcers, of Cuyahoga county, before the grand jury adjourns March 16, were predicted by Prosecutor Stanton and federal officials today.

"Scores of affidavits are now on file containing conclusive evidence of extortion and graft practiced in certain justice of the peace courts in Cleveland," Stanton said.

William J. Zouli, justice of the peace of Shaker Heights, and vice-president of the State Association of Justices of the Peace, today presented findings of that organization to Prosecutor Stanton. The association has been conducting a similar investigation.

GERMAN AMBASSADOR TO FRANCE TAKEN BY DEATH

MUNICH — Dr. Wilhelm Mayer, German ambassador to France, has died here as a result of "general weakness," it was announced today.

Dr. Mayer was recalled by his government from Paris at the beginning of the Ruhr occupation by France and Belgium, proceeding to Munich. He was ill at the time of his departure from Paris, traveling against the orders of his physician and his condition shortly afterwards became serious.

Dr. Mayer was born at Enkenbach, Rhine, November 18, 1874.

DROWNS IN TUB

NEWARK, Ohio—Becoming dizzy while doing family washing, Mrs. Rose Melick, 46, fell into a wash tub and was drowned.

GIVE HOSPITALS EQUAL RIGHTS!

LEGISLATION to prohibit tag days in Lima except one each year for the City hospital and St. Rita's hospital was ordered prepared by the city commission at its meeting Monday night. These two hospitals will be named specifically in the ordinance, the District Tuberculosis hospital just outside the city limits being excluded from the legislation and thus denied the same rights in Lima as the two general institutions. The ban on tag days follows the lead of a number of other cities, which are seeking to limit the number of solicitations on the streets. The fact that practically every Saturday last summer was taken up by some organization seeking funds led the commission to order the regulatory ordinance to be drawn.

The District Tuberculosis

hospital, while not a city institution but supported by five counties, probably receives more aid from Lima than any other city in the district. A large organization here is interested in the work being done there and much equipment has been added thru the efforts of this body. A tag day for March 31, to help raise funds for an X-ray machine which is almost essential to treatment of tubercular patients there has been planned. Tag days for hospitals should not be barred in the city. However, if they are to be permitted for the city institutions, the ordinance should not ban the tuberculosis hospital. This should be allowed the same rights as the other two, because it is doing a great work for humanity and being located at the edge of the city, is practically a Lima institution. The city commission should alter its orders to the solicitor, who will draw the ordinance, to include this hospital. Such a procedure probably would mean three tag days in Lima instead of two, which would not be a strain on the patience and generosity of the public.

Hospital organizations have practically no other way to reach the number of persons necessary to raise funds required. Give all three an equal opportunity.

GREAT ARRAY OF CARS IS SEEN

Formal Program Arranged for 8 P. M. Tuesday.

TABERNACLE TRANSFORMED

Mayor Cunningham to Give First Address.

Every detail had been arranged and every car was in place when the doors of the Tabernacle opened promptly at 1 p. m. Tuesday for Lima's Automobile Show.

The last cars to be brought into the Tabernacle were placed in position early Tuesday morning and the smallest details had been taken care of when the show was informally opened.

Formal opening of the show, the third largest given in the state, will be marked by speeches at 8 p. m. Tuesday. Mayor Harold Cunningham will deliver the principal address and will be followed by other speakers who will tell of the history of the automobile and the rapid advances which have been made in the industry.

Some idea of the size of the show can be gained when it is known that 115 cars are on exhibition and that 31 dealers have exhibits at the show. Besides the latest models in various cars, buses and trucks, there are over 10,000 lights which will be used to illuminate the building.

The floor has been covered with a thick layer of prepared sawdust, which will keep the exhibits from becoming dusty in a few hours.

As to the automobiles themselves, which are the main attraction at the show, they almost beggar description. As one enters the front door, there is a wide expanse of cars, which seem to call to one to look closely at the individual machines.

It goes without saying that every car is newly painted and the profusion of colors relieves the eye of monotony. The closed car, as represented by the sedan, coupe and coach, is well represented and is graphically the growing demand by American people for the utmost comfort in their automobiles.

In the open cars, one finds sport models, "snappy" roadsters and staid conservative phaetons, which will make a strong bid for favor to the man who loves to tour with his family or friends.

Salleteries are on hand at each exhibit and they were kept busy Tuesday afternoon explaining the details of construction and operation of their products to interested men and women.

In order that every exhibit be easily accessible, the displays have been arranged in three rows with two main aisles running north and south and with one main aisle running east and west.

The booths are not separated by railings and it is possible to wander it will here and there through the mammoth structure, feasting the eyes on the latest styles in automobiles.

In addition to the automobile exhibits, there are ten booths devoted to the display of automobile accessories.

In addition to the address by Mayor Cunningham and other talks Tuesday evening, music will be furnished by the Lawyer's orchestra, of Ada. There will also be a vocal program every afternoon and evening during the show.

IS BIG ACHIEVEMENT

In discussing the fact that Lima is able to stage an automobile show which was larger than the shows of Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo and Dayton, officials stated that Lima is the center for a large district, and that the show will draw people from a district which extends 40 miles in every direction from Lima.

And it is because of this that the Lima automobile dealers have worked tirelessly for several weeks that the exhibition might be a huge success.

The approximate value of the automobiles on exhibition was placed at $300,000 by one official of the show, who stated that this figure is very close to the value of the cars at the Cleveland and Akron shows. These two cities were the only municipalities in Ohio which had a larger show than Lima.

In connection with the automobile show, the dealers of Lima have been organizing a Lima Automobile Dealers Association and permanent officers of the association will be elected Wednesday noon. It was stated Monday.

Doors of the Tabernacle will open daily at 1 p. m. and will close at 11 p. m.

ARMY MARCHES ON VICE-DENS

3,000 of Chicago's Police Force to be Used in Raids.

CITY'S MOST DRASTIC MOVE

Complete Cleanup of Disorderly Houses is Planned.

CHICAGO.—(Associated Press).—Stamping out commercialized vice under what was said to have been the most drastic police order ever drawn in Chicago may claim the entire attention of 3,000 of the city's available 4,575 patrolmen.

Charles C. Fitzmorris, chief of police, last night directed police captains to place uniformed men at the front and back doors of every known disorderly house in Chicago. Reform leaders have asserted that more than 500 such places are operating here.

Chief Fitzmorris refused to comment on the order other than to say that it "speaks for itself." It informed the police captains that "no excuses will be accepted for failure to comply with this order."

The chief's order came within four hours after Chief Justice McKinley of the criminal court had indicated the March grand jury would be required to renew the investigation in alleged vice conditions.

MANY CHIEFS BROKEN
At Chief Fitzmorris' office it was said the order was decided on after several conferences. It was asserted by some of the chief's counselors that "many chiefs have been broken on the rocks of disorderly houses and gambling" and that Fitzmorris had decided to give the "reformers what they insisted on having."

Chief Fitzmorris' stand has been that Chicago was as orderly as it can be without turning the whole police force loose on vice and letting the criminals run wild.

Chief Justice McKinley said that 4,500 patrolmen to guard one flat, that is, police responsibility. If crime becomes rampant as the result of his order the public still will hold him responsible.

"On the other hand, if it is the chief's intention to cooperate in a sane and sensible manner with the courts and the better element of the city to stamp out den which are the incubators of criminals, he deserves and should receive the commendation of the public."

BUILDING CLEANER FALLS EIGHT STORIES, UNHURT

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — E. Goss and A. Polski, building cleaners, fell eight stories to the pavement last night. Goss escaped without injury. Police surgeons said Polski probably would die. Goss' fall was broken by an awning.

Goss said it was his fifth fall and that in each of the four previous falls his fellow workman was killed. He renewed his life insurance two days ago.

TRIANGLE CASE

Story of a triangle under one foot and known to all concerned was laid in the trial at Oklahoma City of Bert Russell. Mrs. Russell (below) said that when Bert brought Grace Knowles (above) to their home as Mrs. Russell No. 2, she accepted the situation and both women lived as his wives. The triangle broke when Bert, tired of supporting two women, ran away with No. 2, Mrs. Russell said.

TRIAL NEARS END

Case Against Mrs. Saludes Expected To Reach Jury Today

NEW YORK.—(Associated Press).—The case of Mrs. Pamela Saludes, charged with the murder of Oscar Martelliere, broker, is expected to go to the jury today.

James A. Turley, her attorney, was ready today for an address of two and a half hours. His chief plea will be that of temporary insanity brought on by Martelliere's treatment of her. She testified he had deprived her of her husband and property, induced her to break her vows and then left her to help herself.

Assistant District Attorney "rosters" planned to emphasize in his address to the jury, testimony of the state's witnesses that Mrs. Saludes sent her husband away, took Martelliere from his home and then decided to shoot him when he prepared to return to his wife.

CAPITAL STOCK BOOST TO $1,000,000,000 PLANNED

NEW YORK.—The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, parent of the Bell and others, will become the world's largest corporation and America's first billion-dollar concern, if stockholders approve plans to increase capitalization announced today.

The directors have recommended that the capital stock be increased from $750,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 making the company larger than the United States Steel Corporation and General Motors. The stockholders will vote on the proposal March 27. Their approval is regarded as certain.

The "A. T. & T." which took over the Bell Company in 1900, had available for dividends $11.4 a share of $100 par value last year. The dividend balance, representing an increase of 20 per cent over 1921 totalled well over $60,000,000. If the recommended increase is approved the company will have an authorized capital of $50,000,000 more than the Steel Corporation.

FRANCHISE HELD VIOLATED

Bingham Charges Electrolysis to Street Railway.

GAS COMPANY COMPLAINS

Demand for Cable Under Rails May Be Made.

"The Lima City Street Railway company has not met the terms of its franchise," City Manager C. A. Bingham told representatives of the Lima Natural Gas company Monday night at the city hall.

The gas company complained to the city commission that electrolysis caused by electricity escaping from street car rails was decomposing gas mains and creating a hazard to citizens and an expense to the gas company. Water mains, also declared to have been damaged by electrolysis, were exhibited to commission members.

"The situation is alarming," Frank Pringle, manager of the gas company said. "Explosions are possible and asphyxiation probable as long as such condition exists. We have no quarrel with the street railway company, but it is our duty to call attention to a condition that is a hazard to the people," he added.

E. R. Curtin, Jr., and E. L. Malone were also present for the gas company.

ELECTRICITY HAMPERED
Electricity escapes from the rails when the bonding between the ends of rails is broken or damaged, it was explained, and the stray current runs about freely, causing leaks in water and gas mains, sometimes cutting off gas service.

Relief is possible thru installation of a cable beneath the rails to pick up the stray current and carry it back to the power house, it is asserted. The city will probably ask the street car company to install such a cable, or to take other means that will remove the source of trouble.

He requested that the city engineer be instructed to include in plans and specifications of streets to be paved the cost of installing gas service and that such cost be placed on the tax duplicate. A service cost was estimated at $8 a service.

Should the owner of a lot use gas thru such service within a reasonable length of time after installation, the company would refund the $8 to the lot owner, according to the proposal. The letter was filed for consideration.

OLD BILLS COME UP

E. L. Dorsey, Walter Wright and E. W. Stump, grocers who accepted city work slips for goods during the unemployment period of 1921-22, called on the commission to present again bills amounting to about $4,300.

It was contended by commissioners that the Board of Commerce, in the reorganization of the old Chamber of Commerce and the Social Service bureau accepted the grocery bills along with other liabilities of the chamber. Doty-Sollicitor Paul Landis advised the grocers that if they should bring suit against the city for the bills, the city would contest it.

BUSINESS MAY CLIP WINGS OF GREAT FLYER

DETROIT.—Business may clip the wings of Captain Eddie V. Rickenbacker, America's best known flyer, it became known here today. Rickenbacker, a leading executive of an automobile manufacturing organization, has become such an important factor in the business that it becomes necessary to insure him to the extent of $1,000,000, according to his associates.

Insurance companies refuse to insure the ace unless he gives up flying, it is said. But, Rickenbacker is sincere about flying and does not want to give it up, altho he realized building automobiles is his business.

DREW'S HALF CENTURY ON STAGE TO BE CELEBRATED

HALL SALE ORDER IS RUSHED THRU

Commission Passes Measure on Its Second Reading.
BUILDING NOT DISCUSSED
Public Invited on Main-st Paving Parley.

Bids for the sale of the city hall building will be received within five weeks. The ordinance authorizing City Manager C. A. Bligham to proceed was passed on its second reading by the city commission Monday night and advertisement for bids will begin immediately.
The ordinance was slated for three readings at the commission meeting a week ago, on suggestion of City Solicitor Paul Landis.
Little discussion and no objection marked the passage of the ordinance, which a few weeks ago aroused city-wide interest. The city reserves the right to reject any or all bids received and the right to occupy its present offices until January 1, 1924.
The commission did not discuss a new city hall at Monday night's meeting. Two plans are being considered. The addition of two or three floors to the safety building on E. High-st and the erection of a new building in the public square. Other proposals from private citizens are on file.
A resolution for an ordinance providing for the construction of relief sewers under S. Main-st and the public square was passed under suspended rules. Preliminary arrangements for the paving of Main-st from the Pennsylvania tracks to the Ottawa river are being worked out and when completed will be presented to the public in great detail. City Manager Bligham told the commission.

INVITATION TO PUBLIC
Mayor Cunningham asked newspapers to state that a public meeting of property owners concerned in the Main-st paving will be held when plans are completed. Anyone who has an opinion is urged by the Mayor to attend any meeting of the city commission and air it to the mutual satisfaction of the property owner and the members of the commission. The invitation was extended to include all persons interested in any paving project.
Commissioner Jones brought up the question of ownership of the public square and asked if the county was willing to pay its share of the Main-st paving. The city manager and the mayor were instructed to confer with the county commissioners on the question.
The city manager, on motion of Commissioner Breckenridge, was instructed to request the U. & O. rail-

Petition for the paving of Collett-st, High to Spring, was passed and the city solicitor instructed to prepare the required ordinance.

OVERHEAD MEET TO BE HELD

Pennsy Crossing May Be Located At Friday's Parley

Citizens interested in the construction of an overhead crossing at the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks have requested a meeting Friday of city and county engineers, with representatives from the railroad company. It was learned. Location of the overhead crossing will probably be chosen at that time.
Indications point to Metcalf-st, it was said by those in touch with the situation. The county has authority to contribute its share of the expense of such a crossing only if it is built at Metcalf, West or Pine streets.

Some time ago the railroad company began the work of lowering its tracks at Metcalf-st, for the purpose of building an overhead crossing, but difficulty in connection with city sewers arose and the work was abandoned. The new sewer system removes that difficulty and if the railroad company will lower its tracks at Metcalf-st, construction will be simplified, it was said.

BROTHER STRICKEN HERE AS CONSUL FROM BRAZIL SAILS FOR HOME LAND

AMPUTATION OF BOYS' FEET NOT NECESSARY

Kenton Castor, 14, son of Tell R. Castor, president of the city council at Kenton, will not suffer the loss of his feet the result of an accident, as was feared when his feet were crushed under the wheels of a freight train.

Young Castor and other boys planned to "bum" their ways to Bluffton, for the basketball tournament, and when he attempted to board a moving freight train, Castor fell under the wheels.
Latest word from the Kenton hospital is that both feet will be saved.

GUYTON HOLDS UP SENTENCE

Three Chiropractors, One Naturopath Convicted.

THREE MORE TO BE TRIED

Accused Assert They Will Refuse to Pay Fines.

Sentence was withheld Tuesday by Justice W. H. Guyton in the cases of three chiropractors and one naturopath found guilty in his court on charges of practicing medicine without a license.

The amount of fines to be imposed on the convicted practitioners will be announced Friday, Justice Guyton announced, when he has heard cases against three other chiropractors.

The four found guilty at hearings Monday afternoon and night are Glen V. John, R. E. Swen and G. L. Pott, chiropractors, and H. L. Bruff, a naturopath.

Glen V. John, district vice president of the Universal Chiropractors' Association, was the only one of the four to testify in his own behalf.

PATIENTS TESTIFY

Patients of several of the practitioners testified.

A motion for a new trial will be filed in the case of H. L. Bruff, naturopath, whose case was the first one heard. If the motion is denied by Justice Guyton, counsel will pursue the case on error in common pleas court.

O. E. Parks, representing the attorney general's office, and H. D. Mills, of the Ohio State Medical Association, conducted the prosecution of the cases. Complaint was filed against six chiropractors and one naturopath by Frank Dorsey and Celia Dorsey, agents for the medical society.

Trial of cases against Paul and Theresa Lerner and Ezekiel Hadsell will be heard before Justice Guyton on Friday.

Chiropractors convicted for practicing without a license, state they will refuse to pay any fines that the court may impose. They hold they are fighting to obtain their own examining board in Ohio.

LED 35,000 MILES IN LOVE CHASE

Actor Wins Hand of Actress After Nine-year Courtship.

WILL MARRY TOMORROW

James Jolley, Jeanette Sherwin Are Stars in Romance.

NEW YORK—(Associated Press)—A nine-year courtship, during which the man traveled more than 35,000 miles, will culminate here tomorrow when James Jolley, London civil engineer and actor, will marry Miss Jeanette Sherwin, star in a Broadway play. Jolley was a passenger on the Cedric, arriving today from England.

Miss Sherwin first met Jolley in 1914, in England. When she left for South Africa Jolley followed her there. They met at Johannesburg, and he got an engagement in her company. He proposed but without success.

Later they went to India and again he proposed. This time the answer was "yes" and the engagement ring was made at a bazaar at Delhi.

While the company was touring China and Japan the war broke out and Jolley enlisted. He became a lieutenant. Then came a false report that he had been killed.

They met again in London but Miss Sherwin refused to marry him at once, saying she wanted to distinguish herself on the stage. Just recently she decided that she had reached the point in her career where she could marry.

GIRL IS WINNING FIGHT AGAINST DUAL PERSONALITY

COLUMBUS — Bernice Redick, 20, whose strange development of a "dual personality" has puzzled psychiatrists for two years, is winning her fight, Ohio State University hospital officials declared today.

Miss Redick is fighting to oust the personality of a four-year-old child which since the former was 13 years old, has at frequent intervals occupied her body.

The child personality known only as "Polly" will die, according to Dr. D. H. Goetz, of the University Psychology department, if Bernice's reserve of nervous energy holds out.

If it does not, he said, both personalities probably will perish.

The strain on the slender body of Bernice Redick, which both personalities are struggling to occupy, will prove exhausting.

No remedy can cure all ailments of the human body, but an immense number of people suffer from aches, pains and diseases when their real trouble is lack of iron in the blood. It is the iron in your blood that enables you to get the nourishment out of your food. Without iron your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it. There is one universally known tonic that has helped thousands because it contains iron like the iron in fresh vegetables and like the iron in your blood.

NUXATED IRON

is an eminent physician's best blood prescription, standardized. It is recommended for all anemic and run-down conditions. It has helped thousands of others. It should help you. Ask for it at any drug store.

LORIMER'S LAST PLEA DRAMATIC

Pomerene Draws Picture Of Illinois Senator's Ousting

BIG BILL DEFIANT TO LAST

Ohioan's First Great Battle For Clean Government

BY FRANK EDWARDS

WASHINGTON—(United Press)—“Of all the stirring speeches delivered during the eventful period spent in the Senate, none was so moving, so intensely human as Lorimer's defense,” said ex-Senator Alton Pomerene of Ohio.

How accusers and defenders of former Senator William Lorimer of Illinois, ousted from the Senate on July 13, 1912, as a result of his election by the famous “Jack pot” Illinois legislature, were gripped by “Blond Bill's” dramatic denial of the corruption charges was graphically recounted for the United Press by the senator from the Buckeye State.

The Lorimer scandal shocked the conscience of the country and Pomerene voted to oust the erstwhile “Boss of Chicago,” despite his touching plea for vindication. It was the first of two great battles Pomerene fought for clean government. He led the fight to oust former Senator Newberry of Michigan charged with buying his seat.

Kindly and sympathetic tho he is, principles, not politics or personal feelings, have always been the main springs of Pomerene's actions. His friends charge his defeat last fall to his unbending devotion to principles.

That straight-laced sticking to principles, however, did not blind Pomerene to the soul-stirring drama of real life, with the Senate as the stage and “Big Bill” as the star.

LORIMER'S DEFENSE

“Washington was in the midst of a sultry summer as Lorimer closed his defense and hurled defiance at his accusers,” said Pomerene. “The chamber reeked with heat. Tense and perspiring the packed galleries and the crowded floor were cast under the spell of the supreme effort of a man fighting with his back to the wall.”

Standing in his place, now pleading for vindication for the sake of his wife and children, now defiant, “Big Bill” presented a never-to-be-forgotten picture. Handsome, bulky, yet lean and sinuous as a cat, his shaggy mane of sorrel hair tumbled almost to his shoulders.

Lorimer was no orator, yet his tongue was inspired by his extremity. A poor boy without educational advantages, he gave a remarkable demonstration of his analytical mind by a review of the record that had been taken in two years of investigation.

“His statements were simple and rang with earnestness and sincerity. He convinced many that he had no personal knowledge of the corrupt ‘Jack pot’ that bought his election. ‘It was generally conceded that despite his political affiliations, Lorimer's home life was ideal, that his word was his bond and that he had never turned from a friend. He declared one kiss from each of his loved ones, who he said would not feel themselves disgraced if he was turned out of the Senate, would be compensation enough for all his trials.’

LORIMER'S LAST PLEA

“The sheer drama, the intensity of feeling that marked his peroration can best be conveyed by Lorimer's own words. He said: ‘As God is my judge, I know that no man cast a corrupt vote for Lorimer. Resign in the face of that conviction, because defeat stares me in the face! This is not a chamber of cowards!’

“Oh, senators, you may vote to turn me out, but while I have strength I am going to make a character and a reputation of never having been a coward.”

“Oh, no, no, no, I will not resign! If I go from this body it will be because more senators vote in favor of expelling me than for clearing me.”

“My exit will not be from fear. My exit will not be because I am a coward. It will be because of the crime of the Senate of those United States.”

“I am ready.”

“With those words, Lorimer swept the Senate with his eyes for the last time. A tumult or applause burst from the galleries. Then a hush fell over the crowd as he turned from his seat, and with his proud head held high strode from the chamber. The next minute the roll was called and Lorimer was expelled by a vote of 35 to 28.”

MENTHOLATUM

DEATH LURKS IN MONKEY GLANDS

This is Opinion of Noted Chicago Specialist.

DECLARED HARMFUL TO MAN

Bring Tuberculosis Instead of Youth, Doctors Say.

(BY LINCOLN QUAMBERG)

KANSAS CITY.—(United Press)—The man who depends on monkey glands for rejuvenation is bargaining with death and not youth. This attack on the famous theory of having new vigor thru gland transplantation, was launched here today by Dr. Albert A. Lowenthal, noted Chicago specialist.

"The monkey glands are no good to anyone but himself," the physician said in an interview. "The man who invests in a gland operation as a means of regaining youth is buying a liability and not an asset."

Dr. Lowenthal declared that monkey glands instead of providing fresh youth would create sterility and encourage quick death.

"The best a man could hope from a healthy monkey would be a temporary stimulation, lasting not more than 90 days," he said.

GLANDS ARE TUBERCULAR
"Monkey glands besides lacking in virility, are 95 per cent tubercular. Moreover, 95 per cent of the infected glands, when transplanted, fail to give the desired stimulus, because nature never allows the monkey with real youth-restoring powers."

Aged millionaires, who spend vast sums for gland operations, are a prey for physicians, according to Lowenthal, who contends there is a simpler and cheaper method of rejuvenation.

"A man can be rejuvenated by simply feeding him gland capsules," he declared. "The goat supplies the purest and most potent substance for this purpose. The goat gland is immune from being tubercular."

"By simply administering the gland substance in desiccated form or hypodermically, a state of permanent rejuvenation can be secured."

Dr. Lowenthal declared the completeness of the process of scientific rejuvenation had been observed by the publicity given the monkey gland theory.

"The time will come," he said, "when the man seeking youth will simply go to his family physician and be served with a goat gland capsule."

LEGAL SKIRMISHES SWEEP ASIDE IN MASSACRE TRIAL

MARION, Ill.—(Associated Press)—Sweeping aside all the legal skirmishing that marked the opening of the first trial in this trial, the prosecution today continued the introduction of evidence against Hugh Willis, state board member of the Illinois mine workers and five other defendants charged with murder in connection with the outbreak.

The prosecution was prepared to lay special emphasis on its contention that the killing of the twenty-two non-union miners resulted from a conspiracy.

The case of the Harmarket Hotel in Chicago where an editor and a speaker who took no actual part in the killings, were hanged because they had advocated violence was cited by C. W. Middlekauff, special prosecutor, in his statement to the jury as applying to the present case.

MORTON TALKS AT PIQUA ON ADVERTISING MEDIA

James L. Morton, manager of the Board of Commerce, address of the Piqua Chamber of Commerce Monday night at a dinner meeting, on the elimination of inefficient advertising media.

Morton based his talk on experience of the Better Business Bureau in its fight on advertising campaigns and pointed out the great amount of money lost on a false media. "The Board of Commerce endorses only newspaper advertising."

"The time will come," he said, "when the man seeking youth will simply go to his family physician and be served with a goat gland capsule."

SECRECY OF DRY FUND EXPLAINED

Paid to Employees of Wet Newspapers, Anderson Says.

NEW YORK.—(Associated Press)—W. H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, had admitted that he paid cash to employees of "wet" newspapers, says a statement made public today by Acting District Attorney Pecora, who is having a grand jury investigate the expenditure of $24,700 by Anderson for publicity in behalf of the league.

Mr. Pecora quoted Mr. Anderson as having said in a report to the league directors concerning the $24,700:

"A considerable part of this business was so confidential that it would have defeated its purpose if any of it had become public and would have embarrassed men whose personal sympathies were with us, working for papers and concerns that were against us, if their names were ever known."

Mr. Pecora said further in statements to him Anderson had said that league propagandists working for newspapers might have been embarrassed in their standing with their own papers if it had become known they were in the employ of the league.

Mr. Pecora plans to invite W. M. Potter of McAllen, Texas, a former assistant treasurer of the league, to testify before the grand jury.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by a few drops of this famous old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain or distilled water to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good. Keeps perfectly, and lasts a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and carries the phlegm, soothes and heals the membrane, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic cough, hoarseness, or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Better Train Service At Delphos

PENNSYLVANIA TO MAKE CHANGES

New Order Fills Gaps Made By Trains Eliminated.

WILL MAKE LOCAL STOPS

Service Seen as Good as Before Previous Change.

Passenger service on the Pennsylvania Railroad, Ft. Wayne-Pittsburgh division, has been restored to a condition almost equal to that in effect before trains for local use were reduced from ten to eight, according to an announcement Tuesday by Delphos officials of the company.

Train No. 40, heretofore subject to flag-top at Delphos for Mansfield and points east and to discharge passengers from Chicago to Delphos, will, beginning Thursday, become available for all passengers.

This train is eastbound and leaves Delphos at 1:22 p. m.

Controversy over No. 40 raged six weeks ago when the rail company announced its new schedule. The fact that it became only subject to flag-top made it impossible for passengers to avail themselves of a train for local trips between 7:11 a. m. and 5:50 p. m.

AP IS FILLED

This change fills up in large measure the gap left when a westbound train due to leave Delphos at 9:57 a. m. for all local stops was removed, it is pointed out.

With the exception of this train and another at 1:50 p. m., service is almost as good as formerly, despite the fact that there are only eight trains now, compared formerly to ten.

Eastbound passenger trains now have Delphos at 6:27 and 7:11 a. m. and 1:22 and 5:50 p. m. Westbound trains leave at 2:16 a. m. and 12:01, 1:07 and 5:43 p. m. The 2:16 is subject to flag-top for Chicago passengers and to discharge passengers from Pittsburgh to Delphos.

JUNIORS WIN IN CAGE MEET

Sophomores, Seniors Are Defeated at Delphos.

Juniors are cage champions of Delphos high school. In a set of three games Monday afternoon the third-year classmen came out on top, defeating sophomores and seniors.

The three teams were tied for first place with a record of two victories and one defeat each in a tournament.

The juniors claimed with the sophomores first round a 14 to 2 win. Then the seniors were encountered and again the juniors triumphed, 8 to 6.

With the double win goes the interclass championship of the school and the privilege of meeting a friendly team later on.

The teacher-fightmen, who did not win a single game during the process of the tournament which extended over six weeks, were again humiliated Monday when juniors high-circled knocked them for a battery of bath houses, winning 10 to 6.

Much interest was created in the Red and White tourney. Eugene Correll, coach refereed.

Owners of radio outfits and those keenly interested in this late great contribution to science are numbered by the score in Delphos.

LIMA MAN TAKEN

Held at Delphos on False Pretense Charge.

Archer True-dale, 26 St. Marys, is held at Delphos city jail under sentence for having appropriated an auto storage battery from Frank Tremont, proprietor of a N. Main-st. repair shop.

According to assertions in court, True-dale took out the battery with the understanding that it was later to be returned, but it is alleged he failed to do so. The charge against him is that he obtained goods under false pretenses.

He pleaded guilty Monday night before Mayor J. K. Williams and sentence was postponed for a short time. True-dale, formerly employed in Delphos, was arrested Monday by Patrolman Al Humphreys of Delphos and Deputy Sheriff Fred Doley of Van Wert-co at 216 E. Spring-st., Lima.

DELPHOS CAGERS IN CHALLENGE

St. John's Team Offers to Play Bluffton Winners.

Finalists and semi-finalists in the Bluffton inter-sessional basketball tournament, won by Ada in class A and Bluffton in class B, have been challenged by the Delphos St. John's cage team for a post season contest.

Manager Huary Sheibley Monday declared he is desirous of taking on either Lima Central or South, Ada or Bluffton, sometime after March 16, when the Blue and Gold season will end with a game at Ottawa.

Whether or not one of these four quintets will accept is unknown by Sheibley. He is striving to book one of them in the face of strong confidence among Delphos fans that St. John's can show either one of the five something about the court pastime.

St. John's, winner of 19 out of 23 battles this season, has met none of the teams except Ada, which defeated the Blue and Gold 39 to 13 the evening after Delphos returned victorious from the Spencerville tournament and the players were tired.

If these negotiations are fruitless Delphos will have but two more games to play—with Norwalk Friday night and Ottawa March 16.

PRELIMINARIES OPEN FOR DELPHOS CONTEST

Preliminary offerings for the annual Knights of Columbus essay contest among students of St. John's high school, Delphos, are now being prepared, in anticipation of the announcement of the final subject March 15.

The contest also is open to pupils of Ft. Jennings and Landek schools.

Preliminaries are held to prepare students for the final competition, for which all papers must be submitted by June 1. Results will be announced at the June graduation exercises.

The Delphos Knights of Columbus offer three medals this year—one for eighth grade pupils, one for freshmen and sophomores and the third for juniors and seniors.

St. John's seniors also will hold an oratorical contest.

BASEBALLISTS IN DELPHOS MEET

Legionnaires Perfect Plans for Season Tickets.

Committeemen of the Delphos American Legion baseball club met Monday night and framed plans for issuance of season tickets. A pre-season campaign will be conducted. The passes will sell for $10 and each is good for the full program of local games—expected to be 25 in number.

The committee, Dr. G. L. McKenzie, W. D. Swihart and Otto Hemme, also discussed advertising matters. No stone will be left unturned to make the season of 1923 a paying proposition.

Expenditures on the S. Clay-st grounds will be held to the minimum, and the Legionnaires are expecting a tidy sum from sale of advertising space on the fences.

There is the usual pre-season "jockeying" among players who have been of the Delphos club in preceding years. The same lineup that represented the city last year will again be back in the fold, it is believed.

The team probably may have to worry along for three or four games without the accustomed lineup, but after the boys start coming home all will be lovely and the ardent bugs again will lamp the club that made glorious thrills chase up and down their spinal columns.

None has yet been signed by Glenn Shnyder, manager. Practice will be called about April 8. An earlier start is improbable, owing to the fact that the first Sunday of April is Easter.

ROAD UNDERMINED BY QUICKSAND

Maw in Highway Eats Up Material in Great Quantities.

Repair of a 75-foot stretch on Lima-av, an approach to the Harding highway from Delphos which was undermined by quicksand, may cost $1,500 before completed.

Ed Spellman, Delphos service director went over the ground Tuesday morning and declared that necessary improvement cannot be effected for less than $1,000.

Hauling of huge stone slabs and other materials in heavy trucks to fill in the hole has cut up a 125-foot section west of the place. This, too, will need repairing, Spellman said.

The service director was blocked off the auto trap to the east and at the Spencerville-rd intersection to the west. He also has placed barricades on Suthoff-st., on which an impassable hole similar to that on Lima-av has appeared.

But despite these efforts, motorists still persist in driving cars into the sink, Spellman declares and some of them are paying for damage of horses at $1 per car. A few are declared to be waxing rich.

Spellman asserted Tuesday that progress is slightly. As fast as stone and clinders are thrown into the Lima-av hole it disappears. The place is a veritable maw for road materials, he says. Work is in progress under supervision of county officials. Nearby quarries are declared unsupplied with the right kind of material with which to effect repairs.

Vehicles are being turned southward on a township road a half mile east of the hole, thence west to the Spencerville-rd and into Delphos.

$20 In Cash Prizes for Little Work

Already a large number of entries have been received by The Lima News in the essay contest on the subject, "In What Way Can the American Legion Best Advance the Ideals of Americanism?" This newspaper offers $20 in cash prizes in this contest which is open to everyone in Allen-co.

The rules are simple. Essays must not exceed 250 words in length and must be written on one side of the paper only. The essays must be in the hands of the Contest Editor of The Lima News, not later than noon on March 13 to be considered.

The judges in this contest are: Major Frank Hume, Rob Shaw and Dr. E. D. Sinks. Their decisions shall be final.

This contest is open to children and adults alike. The American Legion is a formidable organization with high ideals and the best interests of our country at heart. This contest presents an essay subject on which to write and hundreds of essays should be received. Send in your contribution as soon as finished.

MORE SNOW OR RAIN, SCHEDULE

More snow—or rain—ons or rather Tuesday morning—in permitting his product to be turned into snow, when rain was scheduled.

Jupiter Pluvius pulled a joke on the forecasters Monday night—or rather Tuesday morning—in permitting his product to be turned into snow, when rain was scheduled.

And there's more of the same thing to come, according to the predictions. Sloppy conditions underfoot prevailed through the day Tuesday, while snow fell steadily, melting for the most part, after the first general attack slackened perceptibly.

Snow or rain this afternoon and probably tonight. Colder tonight in extreme southwest portions. Wednesday generally fair.

That fight to make assured precipitation tonight cannot be in the form of rain, it is all.

'Twas a good day for the sale of overhauls and many citizens who harbored too much confidence in their "kicks" found they were unequal to the combination of water and snow—commonly referred to as slush. Wet feet resulted in many cases. And therein the doctor's orders were violated.

March is held one of the most prolific months of the year for pneumonia conditions and nothing is more conducive to illness than wet feet.

AUTOMOBILE PAGE

GREAT LIMA AUTO SHOW NOW IN FULL SWING AT THE BIG TABERNACLE BUILDING

SALES FOR STUTZ AND CLEVELAND

M. L. Johnson And C. J. Schiffer
Open Lima Agency

The new 1923 Stutz and Cleveland line of cars are being shown at the Auto Show. The agency, recently organized, is headed by M. L. Johnson and C. J. Schiffer, both well known in the local automotive world. Headquarters and salesrooms with service are located at 545 West Market-st.

Mr. Johnson was formerly associated with the sales of the Cleveland, Chandler, Peerless and Ford line of cars here, while Mr. Schiffer was formerly with the Paige-Detroit company.

The advent of the latest Cleveland Six—a two-door Sedan, portrays on the part of its makers, a keen desire to introduce to the motoring public a modern, fashioned, strictly individual type of closed car. It marks the culmination of tireless devotion to an ideal; that of building a compact enclosed car, offering the all-weather comfort, luxury and performance of costly motor cars—at a price which establishes a new standard of value for the light six fold.

You must not confuse this new two-door sedan with any compromise type of closed car, where savings have been effected thru the elimination of quality, richness of appointment or staunchness of construction. Indeed, it is a large, roomy five-passenger sedan, complete to the smallest detail, soundly built for durability.

When you meet this latest Cleveland Six creation, you will experience a rare surprise. Its striking beauty, unusual quality, dignity of contour and finish will impress you immediately. Built low, with long sweeping lines, it appears to fairly hug the road.

Never until now has such a highly refined type of closed car been produced to sell at a price so phenomenally low. Without question, here is the most astonishing motor car value of the year.

Like the other Cleveland Six models, this two-door sedan is mounted upon the standard Cleveland chassis, which is endowed with unusual power, sturdy strength and an enviable reputation for high efficiency.

On entering the interior you immediately sense an air of richness. The color scheme is taut to harmonize with the seat covering of beautiful plush in the same color. The deep cushioned seats are at a restful tilt; the front ones being individual swing forward to permit ease of entrance and exit.

The windows are opened or closed instantaneously by a turn of the hand. What could be nicer? In the summer with the windows lowered, a breeze swept touring car; in cold blustering weather a snug, cozy closed car.

A special Chevrolet sport roadster is the pride of the C. J. Schiffer organization.

reaching the million mark in automobile production, some of the why and wherefore sought by my correspondent might likewise be of general public interest. I herewith summarize them for what they may be worth. It is necessary to go back 20 years, back to the very inception of the Buick Motor company, to find the first important fundamental reason for Buick growth—namely a well defined conviction at the outset of what an automobile should be.

HELD TO PRINCIPLE

For instance there was the valve-in-head type of motor, convinced of the superiority of that type, Buick engineers have never once departed from the principle. They followed literally the injunction of Davy Crockett: "Be sure you are right, then go ahead." So it has been with the other well known car marks of Buick construction. Experimentation? Yes, plenty—but with very little resultant change in fundamentals.

Having conceived a car that seemed best adapted to the needs of the average buyer, the next point in importance was to gain public confidence. To achieve this necessitated not alone the maintenance of the high cardinal standards adopted, but the organization of a factory force that would work in effective harmony, and then, of strong local representation everywhere. The latter must be in sympathy with the factory and able to properly interpret it to the home folks.

BUILT TO MEET NEEDS

A potent factor in achieving the million mark was the unflinching determination of Buick never to build to a price. We have not attempted to learn what any certain class of motorists wanted to pay for a car and then to try and supply such a car. On the other hand we have built cars that we believed adaptable to needs and then sell them at as low a price as seemed consistent with good business.

"When better cars are built, Buick will build them." That is more than slogan—more than a mere phrase. It is a resolution and the vigilance and vigor of the entire organization is behind it.

No matter what its price may be, each car must and will give the maximum of that service for which it was intended and bear its proportion of the responsibility for maintaining Buick prestige.

Twenty years of consistent development steady progress and adherence to definite ideals has built a faithful clientele for Buick. That is why we have attained the million mark, and expect to retain leadership.

The famous, much talked of Red Speed wagon is on display near the band stand.

reaching the million mark in automobile production, some of the why and wherefore sought by my correspondent might likewise be of general public interest. I herewith summarize them for what they may be worth. It is necessary to go back 20 years, back to the very inception of the Buick Motor company, to find the first important fundamental reason for Buick growth—namely a well defined conviction at the outset of what an automobile should be.

HELD TO PRINCIPLE

For instance there was the valve-in-head type of motor, convinced of the superiority of that type, Buick engineers have never once departed from the principle. They followed literally the injunction of Davy Crockett: "Be sure you are right, then go ahead." So it has been with the other well known car marks of Buick construction. Experimentation? Yes, plenty—but with very little resultant change in fundamentals.

Having conceived a car that seemed best adapted to the needs of the average buyer, the next point in importance was to gain public confidence. To achieve this necessitated not alone the maintenance of the high cardinal standards adopted, but the organization of a factory force that would work in effective harmony, and then, of strong local representation everywhere. The latter must be in sympathy with the factory and able to properly interpret it to the home folks.

BUILT TO MEET NEEDS

A potent factor in achieving the million mark was the unflinching determination of Buick never to build to a price. We have not attempted to learn what any certain class of motorists wanted to pay for a car and then to try and supply such a car. On the other hand we have built cars that we believed adaptable to needs and then sell them at as low a price as seemed consistent with good business.

"When better cars are built, Buick will build them." That is more than slogan—more than a mere phrase. It is a resolution and the vigilance and vigor of the entire organization is behind it.

No matter what its price may be, each car must and will give the maximum of that service for which it was intended and bear its proportion of the responsibility for maintaining Buick prestige.

Twenty years of consistent development steady progress and adherence to definite ideals has built a faithful clientele for Buick. That is why we have attained the million mark, and expect to retain leadership.

LIMA BOASTS BIG TIRE HOUSE

Lima Tire & Supply Co., Now One Of The Largest In Ohio

Success crowned the operation of the Lima Tire & Supply company from its very inception little more than a year ago.

With two of the most able tire men in the city at its helm, the business that has grown beyond all anticipation—today making as one of the largest tire houses in Ohio. These business-getters are Mr. Conway and Mr. Pflaum, both officials of the company.

The Lima Tire & Supply company is official factory sales and service representative for Firestone and Oldfield fabric and cord tires. It enjoys the reputation of having the largest supply of tires in the city, being in position to equip more than two hundred cars complete with stock on hand.

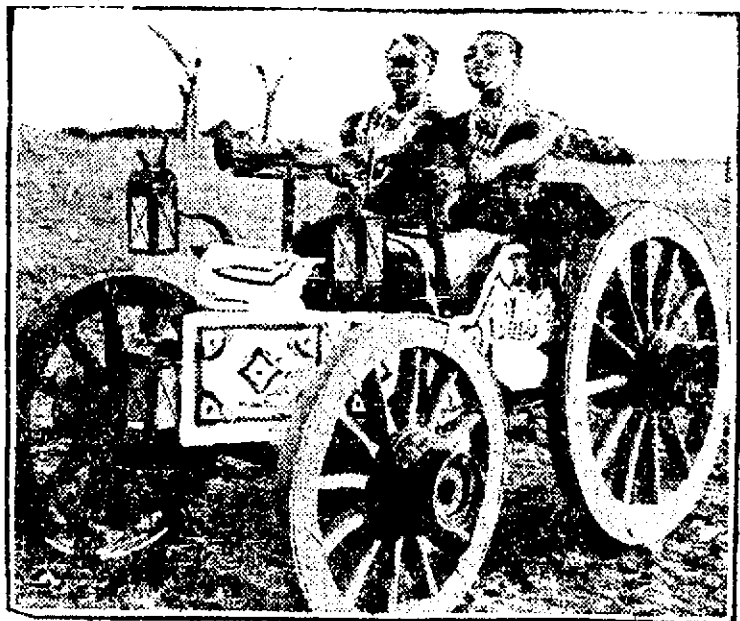

With rapid-fire service on day or night calls, this company maintains a department for the benefit of its rapidly growing patronage. The drive-in service is another appealing feature.

RESCUES CHILDREN

NEW YORK.—Patrolman John Dale, world war hero, rescued six children and two women from a burning tenement in Brooklyn early today. He made three trips from the building, the last time throwing his coat over his head and crawling along the floor of the third story to reach a helpless woman.

You may see a car like this at the Lima auto show. This one was presented to a Zulu chief in Africa, who, accompanied by his bride, is shown starting out on a tour of his domains.

"WEEK OF SURPRISES" PROMISED BY K. OF C.

"A week of surprises" is promised Monday night by the Knights of Columbus Carnival committee in discussing the various stunts which are to be staged at the festival of fun, March 31 to April 7.

Plans are not complete, according to F. J. O'Connor, chairman of the committee, but preliminary arrangements are well enough along that it is safe to promise one of the greatest fun making affairs ever staged in Lima.

Two entire floors of the Knights of Columbus Recreation-bldg on W. North-st will be given over to the carnival and lunch producing devotes will predominate, O'Connor asserted. In addition to these, a number of high grade artists will present a program every evening during the carnival.

NEW HIGHWAY HEAD TO CONTINUE OFFICES HERE

Lima will continue as the home office for the first highway district, according to statement of D. Hubbard, of Newark, who succeeded to the office of division engineer for the state highway department, formerly held by Grover F. Clements, of Mt. Gilead.

Clements retired March 1, to accept a sales position with the Gallien Iron works, a firm specializing in the manufacture of road machinery.

AT THE LIMA AUTOMOBILE SHOW

The greatest automobile show ever held in Lima is now on. A continuous afternoon and evening entertainment and showing will be held each day to and including Saturday evening.

With a dazzling display of 115 motor cars, representing practically every automobile in the country, both open and closed models, visitors at the Lima Auto Show will be fully repaid for attending this great exhibit.

There are music numbers galore by some of the best musicians in the country—something new, something different every minute of the show. Long before the song sounded opening the doors of the tabernacle building to the show visitors, everything was in readiness to receive the thousands of men and women in grand style.

Blazing lights here, lights there, lights everywhere; flags and harmonizing decorative effects; orchestral music; wide ample walks; plenty of space between cars for viewing each model—nothing has been overlooked for the entertainment and convenience of the guests. There is a main line telephone in nearly every booth and a special information bureau.

One of the extra special attractions at the show is the new copper air cooled Chevrolet car, a new motor design produced by the Chevrolet Motor company of Flint. This car is the same in appearance as the regular Superior models. The difference in the car is under the hood. Friends Ferguson and Dawidson are justly proud of their display of new 1923 Studebaker models. That these cars will attract considerable attention goes without saying, for Studebaker never yet has failed to attract the crowds at any auto show.

The Lima Auto Show is the third largest of any to be held in Ohio this year, being eclipsed by Cleveland and Akron. The shows at Toledo, Cincinnati, Dayton, Springfield, Columbus and other cities pale into insignificance when compared with our own show. This has been made possible thru the undivided cooperation of the Lima dealers, working with the show management.

We miss Joe C. Hartline, don't you? Always at the front in automotive activities in Lima, Joe is now in the banking business over in Mansfield. He's managing a branch of the City Loan & Savings company.

The show-fall of Tuesday added to the Auto Show. We're all going to the Auto Show. We'll all going aren't you?

See the 700th and the 7,000, 700th Ford car at the auto show. Don't crowd! Gather around the lunch counter with sandwiches, hot coffee and soft drinks. Chef Ricks, the well known restaurateur, is at your service.

Henry Ford's great Lincoln car is attracting special attention.

Like a Lark? See friend Sberriek's exhibition of Lexingtons. Haruff says you'll miss half the show if you overlook the new 1923 Hart cars—They're worth seeing, too.

"The greatest auto section in Ohio" is the way one of the show managers spoke of the Lima News auto section of last Sunday. If you didn't see it, get one at the show. It will help you select the car you wish!

It wouldn't be a good show without "L. B. T." would it boys? Who is he? Why, Henry and Edsel Ford's right hand man down Lima way!

Art Bryan says the auto show will produce more sales than any similar show ever held here. He has Maxwell and Chalmers.

CLEVELAND SIX

Why Drive a Four?

THE clear-cut performance superiority of the six cylinder motor is substantiated by one accepted fact:

Those who once own a six never go back to a four.

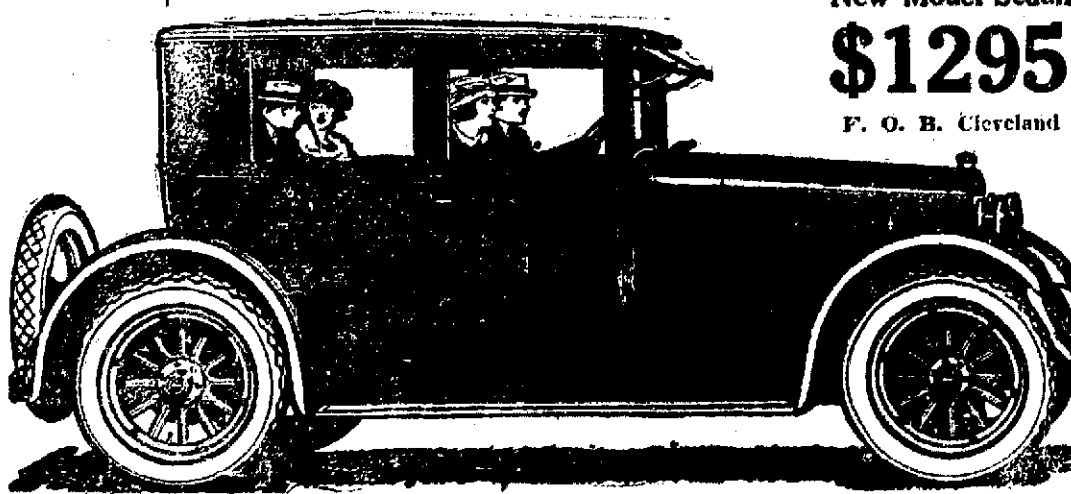

A notably fine motor has always been a distinguishing feature of the Cleveland Six. To take you quickly and smoothly through traffic or over trying hills it needs no help from the gear shift lever.

Practically without attention it will deliver thousands of miles of the most rigorous service. Its economy is as pronounced as its ruggedness.

The closest investigation can only reveal the Cleveland to be an outstanding example of real value—a car of exceptional workmanship and materials, selling at an exceptional price.

The model illustrated (body by Fisher) is the lowest priced six cylinder sedan in the market.

BUSINESS TEST UP TO PEOPLE

Future Depends On Individual Acts, Forbes Says

CURB ON PRICES IS URGED

Advancing Trend Declared Most Unfavorable Feature

(By B. C. FORBES)
NEW YORK — (Special) — The most favorable business feature is the very fine volume of activity.

The most unfavorable is the distinctly advancing trend in prices, a trend which threatens to become even more pronounced.

What will be the outcome?

Think, nearly everything depends upon how all of us act during the next few months. If we can exercise a proper measure of self-restraint, runaway conditions may be averted. If we don't they won't.

Of course, it must not be assumed that every price revision upward is open to criticism.

As a matter of fact, all of us would be better off were most agricultural prices, especially wheat, to increase in market value.

Nor is the latest rise in cotton to a new maximum for the season deplorable.

The weakest feature of our whole economic picture is the disquiet between prices received by those who till the soil and by those who produce other goods.

Then, there are other price advances which cannot well be avoided. When such basic raw materials as wool, rubber, leather, sugar, oil, lumber, brick advance as they have advanced during recent months, a whole chain of price readjustments inevitably follows.

No objection, therefore, can be taken legitimately to many of the price changes now going on or to others which inevitably will come.

Frankly, there seems to have been extremely little unjustifiable price boosting. A great many business men are in the mental attitude of a prominent brick manufacturer who said to me: "I don't want to raise prices at $20 a thousand, but I don't want to make money at a very much lower figure."

Unfortunately, competition, the law of supply and demand, has been governing the market. I'll be very glad, however, when we can get back to a more normal basis. This sort of thing can't last.

It is encouraging to note that the leaders in various industries, as well as many very influential trade associations, are earnestly warning against undue marking up of prices.

Apparently it is very widely realized that the greatest danger confronting business in this country is that of inflation.

Wall street has an axiom to the effect that dangers foreseen are always avoided.

May it not be that the danger of inflation being so generally and so clearly foreseen, it may be avoided before it is too late?

Manifestly, the stock market — usually a keen, penetrating, foresighted judge — is hopeful not to say confident, over the outcome, for stock quotations have again risen to a new high level, notwithstanding the recent official advance in discount rates. Not only so, but transactions in one or two days have been unusually heavy.

Bonds stand only fractionally below their best price of the year.

How does the really tremendous improvement, which has taken place in domestic conditions compare or contrast with developments in other countries?

The most trustworthy indices record very material betterment in almost every country in Europe, with the notable exception of Germany, whose fantastic currency inflation was foredoomed to culminate disastrously. Britain need cause us no sleepless nights.

The department of commerce reports distinctly improving business conditions in Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Peru. Mexico has become a less disturbing factor than formerly. Canada is managing her affairs ably and successfully.

In short, the painful process of recovering from the shock and strain and stress of the world war is making genuine headway.

So far as America is concerned, the longer future depends almost entirely upon whether we make headway rationally, sensibly, soberly, or whether we fail to hold the reins tightly and plunge forward irrationally, excitedly, frenziedly.

The outcome rests not merely with financial and business leaders, but with labor leaders and workers when wage questions arise, with landlords, with consumers, with each one of us.

How are we going to meet the test?

PRESIDENT PLANS SPEAKING TOUR

Will Appeal to People for World Court Support.

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes during the long recess of congress, will "stamp" the country for American participation in the permanent court of international justice at The Hague, according to close friends of the executive.

In much the same fashion as Woodrow Wilson four years ago, making an extended speaking tour in the country west of the Mississippi in the future hope of obtaining American approval for the league of nations, President Harding this summer will go over a similar route and in direct appeals to the people, ask that the country ratify his proposal for American participation in the international arbitration court.

Congress has provided for additional funds for an extended speaking tour by the president. Last year the president spent less than half his annual $25,000 fund for traveling expenses. In the deficiency bill passed in the closing hours of congress, it was provided that this unexpended balance might be added to this year's fund.

Congressional leaders were informed that the president would go to the Pacific coast and probably to Alaska. Along the route he is certain to make speeches, with the prospect that during the tour he will deliver 15 to 25 important addresses.

Much of the criticism of the Harding foreign policy has come from the west.

Hughes, who is generally credited here with being responsible for the court's appeal, is expected to deliver a series of speeches in the east while the president is making his first visit to the far west.

CONSPIRACY BILL MAY BE KILLED

Measure To Be Reconsidered By Ohio Legislators

GIVEN BIG SENATE MAJORITY

Gasoline Tax Proposal Up Before Committee Today

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — Working under a new speedup program directed by the rules committee which has assumed the duty of arranging the calendar each day, the house was expected to act on a number of minor measures today.

Decision to have the arrangement of the calendar supervised by the committee in the hope that adjournment would be possible early in April was announced yesterday by Speaker Griswold. The system will permit only bills approved by the committee to come up for passage.

After deferring action at a brief session yesterday on the motion of Senator Frank Burch, Akron, to reconsider the vote on the passage of the Jenkins conspiracy bill, the senate was expected to consider the matter today with predictions freely made that reconsideration would be approved and that the bill would be killed or sent back to committee.

Under the measure which was passed last Wednesday with only two dissenting votes, conspiracy to commit any offense against the state would be punishable by a fine of from $100 to $5,000 and imprisonment of from one to five years.

The proposal of Representative John P. Brown, Republican, of Cincinnati, for a tax of two cents per gallon on gasoline used for the operation of motor vehicles on the public highways, was introduced before the house today with predictions that representatives of automobile clubs would object.

BAR ADMISSION MEASURE

COLUMBUS — (United Press) — The proposed law of Representative Tallentire, Hamilton, O., raising standards of admission to the Ohio bar, had been placed at the head of the house reading calendar by the house rules committee today.

Tallentire's bill once passed the house, it was reconsidered following protest against the requirement of 1200 hours of class room work. As it now stands 600 hours of class room work in a recognized law school are required.

Second on the calendar is a bill passed by the senate appropriating $1,250,000 for weak school districts.

Sixteen other bills were placed on the calendar for today. Included in these are the Lipp bill to speed up court procedure in criminal cases, the Wise bill, authorizing leasing of Summit Lake bathing and boating facilities to the city of Akron, the Wendt bill, permitting the sale of denatured and wood alcohol at garages, the Marshall bill, creating chief justiceships of common pleas courts in counties having two or more judges and the Finelrock bill requiring prisoners sent to jail in default of fines to work out fines and costs at the rate of $1.50 per day.

Two released in picture case

Refund of Money to Merchants Promised by Salesmen.

Cases against Irvin C. Hamlin, 45, and Andrew V. Hamlin, 25, both of Detroit, Mich., were dismissed when they appeared in police court Tuesday on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses from local merchants. They were arrested Monday at Detroit on warrants sworn out by local merchants who claimed to have been swindled in a motion picture publicity deal.

They were dismissed after they convinced the court that they were innocent of the charges against them, having sold the pictures in good faith, believing that the head of their crew, Al P. Dennis, would deliver the pictures of the same quality as they sold. They will have to pay the court costs of the case.

Dennis, who is being held at Akron on a similar charge, according to police, will be brought to Lima by Officer Laughlin, who left Lima at 1:45 p. m. Orders were issued by the court to dismiss the case against D. Vinetta, who is confined to the Herman Keifer hospital at Detroit with scarlet fever. Both of the Hamlins declare he sold the pictures in good faith.

P. H. Barber, of Detroit, and George P. Gregory, of Cassville, N. Y., arrested Saturday on warrants, settled their case Monday afternoon, by agreeing to reimburse the merchants for their loss. Judge Jackson fined each one $10 and costs, after they changed their plea of not guilty to guilty.

A total of 28 merchants had dealings with the six men and are alleged to have lost more than $700 among them in the deal.

The photographs that arrived were inferior to samples shown, merchants declared.

The arrests were brought about by the Better Business bureau of the Board of Commerce.

Local Distributor for Nash Cars Has Fine Showing.

Nash presents a new Carriole at the Automobile Show. Those who have seen the car declare that no closed model in the Nash line will make a wider appeal.

This four-cylinder five passenger enclosed family car, with its high grade body, cowl ventilation, barrel type headlamps, parking lamps, large trunk and nickeled bars is both handsome in appearance and comfortable in riding qualities.

Its powerful Nash perfected valve-in-head motor has been refined to a point where its smoothness at all speeds amazes even most familiar with motor car construction. In addition, its motor is sparing of gasoline and the perfect balance of the car together with its lightness means economy in tires.

The new Nash Carriole was produced in response to a growing demand for a light enclosed car of very moderate price. Equally practical for business or for family use, this model with its protection against the weather has won instant approval. The length of the car and its long graceful lines accentuate its low smartness.

Both front seats are of the parlor car type, with high backs and are unusually comfortable. The right front seat folds forward. The rear seat is wide and restful, providing ample room for three adults. Windows front and rear may be raised and lowered and there is a large plate glass window at the back. There are silken window shades. Cord tires 34x1 front and rear are standard equipment.

TRIAL MAY CLEAR DEAD BANDIT

Defense Hopes to Show Townsend Not in Robbery.

Testimony entered to prove that Raleigh Ross Townsend did not participate in the robbery of the Huntertown State bank, Huntertown, Ind., May 21, 1921, will be offered by the defense in the trial of a case brought by the U. S. Fidelity & Guarantee company against Roy Bowersock, administrator of Townsend's estate. The concern is seeking to recover $304 alleged to have been stolen from the bank by Townsend.

"We shall show that Raleigh Townsend was in Lima at the home of a Mrs. Mary Hess, S. Elizabeth, at the time the bank was robbed," Attorney Francis Durbin told the jury in the opening statement.

Durbin declared he is prepared to show by reputable Lima citizens that Townsend had nothing to do with the untoward robbery. The real robbers, he declared, were captured by the police two hours after Raleigh Townsend was shot and killed by the police.

Mrs. Anna Schwartz, book-keeper of the bank who was present when the bandits entered, will be an important witness for the guarantee company. She is prepared, it is claimed, to identify photographs of Raleigh Townsend as those of one of the bandits.

An imposing array of police officers, detectives and others who took part in or witnessed the shooting affray on the south side are to testify regarding the affair.

ADA BUILDINGS TO COST $500,000

Law Building and Hall for Women at University.

Two new buildings, total cost of which is estimated to approximate $500,000, will be constructed on the campus of Ohio Northern university at Ada within the next few months, it was announced by officials of the institution.

Construction of the new law building will begin in April, while the new hall for women will be started as soon as preliminary work on the former is completed. The dormitory will be built to accommodate 300 women and is expected to be one of the finest of its kind in the state. Both buildings will likely be built in the rear of the present campus.

Plans for the law building have been completed by Professor T. J. Smull, of O. N. U. faculty and call for three stories, including the basement. Advertising for bids will be started this week. Class rooms will occupy the first floor, with the court room, reading room and library occupying the top.

Officials expect to spend approximately $250,000 in the construction of the women's dormitory and bonds for this amount will be sold to finance it. Plans call for a three-story U-shaped brick building capable of housing 300 girls. Specifications include reception halls, kitchens, offices and lecture rooms, in addition to a library and bedrooms.

WASHINGTON GAS

EVERY reputable newspaper in the country carried the report of Senator La Follette, on the pseudo investigation of gasoline and Standard Oil, yet editorial comment the country over stamps the sensation as another government hoax.

There is as much danger of "dollar Gasoline" as there is of $5 wheat. Politicians never discern between business and theory. It is true Standard Oil has always made money, and is the greatest operator, transporter, refiner and distributor of gasoline, kerosene, naphtha and lubricating oils. But without Standard Oil and its wonderful organization, gasoline would be selling in this country mere at the price obtained in Europe.

Gasoline ranges from 60c to 80c a gallon in Europe; it sells for 36c the gallon as near as Cuba. In America, since the dawn of automobiles it has never reached any excessive price. Twenty-four cents delivered into your tank is perhaps the average cost for the past twenty years.

Automobile dealers can take the sensational report of Senator La Follette with two grains of salt. The Supreme court "broke up" the alleged Standard Oil trust in 1911, and it would now again make political play to the masses by another attempt to break up the subsidiary companies. The only result would be much like that of governmental operation of railroads, with its heavy deficits; or paternal regulation of those transportation lines, which has brought higher freight rates. The last joke, a coal commission and dictator, has been answered by the highest prices for coal this winter ever known.

Standard Oil, Texas, Sinclair, Skelly, Pure, or any of the others well know that industrial alcohol can be manufactured around 25c the gal. and in big volume probably much less. Auto owners may discard all fears against either a gas famine, or a price any higher than gasoline has reached in the past. The only danger the millions of gas-driven vehicle owners can fear, would be to let the politicians start to meddle in the oil business as they have meddled in railroads and coal. The law of competition will always protect gas buyers, and alcohol is today being used in all parts of Europe and South American countries successfully.

Forget dollar gas as one more political roorback.

LIMA'S AUTO SHOW

WHAT is already conceded to be one of the most pretentious auto shows in Ohio opened today in the tabernacle at Circular and Pierce-sts. In fact, it is doubtful if anything of a similar character ever held in the state surpassed it in number of cars exhibited and the array of accessories shown.

Lima auto dealers and accessory men are a unit in the effort to make the Lima show a splendid success. It is backed by the Auto club, the Board of Commerce and other civic bodies which have the best interests of the city always in mind.

People from the Lima territory—a radius of 40 miles—will make this city their mecca this week, for the purpose of inspecting the very last word in motor vehicles. The interior of the tabernacle is a bower of loveliness and whether interested in autos or accessories, it will be worth while for anyone to attend the show, which closes Saturday.

MORE POWER FOR LIMA

ANNOUNCEMENT made by the Ohio Power company of the impending installation of a new generator unit in the Western Ohio power plant in St. Marys, to afford an increased volume of electrical current for light and power in this city, is the first step in the program announced by the new owners of the Lima plant.

There is no doubt whatever but that more power is necessary to meet local demands. It is intended to increase the output of the local plant, pending which a 1,000 K. W. H. generator is to be placed in the St. Marys plant. Development of manufacturing institutions is being hindered and hampered by lack of electrical current.

Officials of the power company have a comprehensive program. Time will be required to work it out. It is hoped, however, that the utility company will lose no time in meeting the need that exists. It is to the interest of the company and the city.

Records show George Washington spent $85 yearly for candles, which he must have burned at both ends.

MAGNESIA IN THE MEDICINE CABINET

Milk of magnesia is a convenient milk alkali or antacid, somewhat less disagreeable than soda and not itself productive of gas when it reacts with the normal acid of the stomach, as soda does. But magnesia is somewhat more laxative than soda and is frequently given as a laxative, particularly to children, a teaspoonful or two of the milk of magnesia having a mild cathartic action which is accelerated in the presence of more than the usual amount of acid in stomach or intestine, as in the state of acidosis which accompanies many feverish conditions in children and which granny is willing to bet is "worms."

Dentists sometimes prescribe the use of milk of magnesia for rinsing the mouth to neutralize abnormal acidity. It was a common practice a few years ago to add a spoonful of milk of magnesia to the baby's bottle once or twice a day, but this has been superseded by lime water and by mineral water or barley water. Better still, the ethics and ideals of motherhood are better now than they were a generation ago, and more mothers are giving their babies a square deal by nursing them as God intended.

Magnesium carbonate comes in cubes. In this form, magnesia is much used internally as an antacid in such conditions as heartburn, waterbrash, (eructations of sour irritating fluid), sick headache and hyperacidity. Of course it is only a temporary relief at best. Probably magnesia should not be constantly taken internally, at any rate not for long periods, because there is some risk of accumulation of masses of concretions of it in the intestine. Magnesia cubes are sometimes used on the skin to prevent chafing.

Solution of magnesium chloride, prepared freshly by the pharmacist, is probably the least disagreeable of all saline cathartics, when a purgative of that kind is required. The bottle contains 12 ounces; an adult may take it all in one or two doses, or for a child a wineglassful may be given every two hours. This saline purgative is to be preferred when the thought of ordinary salts is repulsive.

Finally there is old Mag Sulph. Magnesium Sulphate is her full name, alias Epsom Salts, but affectionately dubbed Mag Sulph, or just Maggie. There is an aura of romance and mystery about Maggie, something like that which surrounds Cleopatra since the movies discovered her, but all hokum aside, Mag is still a faithful old standby in a pinch, if one's stomach is strong. She is worthy of her suburban sobriquet, too, the fine salts. However, in my judgment, our per capita consumption of Epsom Salts should never exceed two cents per annum, and the administration of the two cents' worth should be wholly in the hands of the family doctor.

All of the magnesium preparations have a certain inhibitory action upon the nervous system, provided the medicine is applied to nerve tissues. Epsom Salts injected into the blood will produce paralysis of the entire body. Hypodermic injection of Epsom Salts produces deep sleep with complete muscular relaxation. Once in a while very grave poisonous effect of similar kind occurs when Epsom Salts is taken too freely.

J. S. SUGAR PROBE IS PLANNED

May Investigate Foreign Combines Affecting American Trade.

RESULT OF SOARING PRICES

Advance is Blamed on New York
Gamblers.

WASHINGTON —(United Press)—An investigation of rising sugar prices may be made by the department of commerce, Secretary Hoover said today.

The commerce department is instructed under the law to investigate foreign combinations which affect American trade, Hoover said.

It has not yet been determined, however, to what extent the department may go in regard to the sugar situation, as the law provides only a small appropriation for investigation. A preliminary inquiry may be held to determine whether Cuban producers are responsible for the rise.

GAMBLERS BLAMED

SAN FRANCISCO —(United Press)—Blame for the high price of sugar was placed on "New York gamblers" today by Frank B. Connolly, secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association of San Francisco.

"There is no logical excuse for the high price of sugar," Connolly said. "The humor of a shortage started the fluctuations on the New York market and altho Secretary Hoover and the big sugar dealers announced there is no shortage, the market is still fluctuating."

"Much depends on how the Cuban crop, just beginning to harvest, turns out."

"FIERY CROSS" AT OHIO CITY BURNED AT NIGHT

The fiery cross of the Ku Klux Klan has been seen at Ohio City, residents reported Tuesday.

The cross was placed in the street opposite the residence of Delbert Brubaker, where John Gonso, who closed revival services at the Church of God last week, is staying. The cross was seen by Gonso's brother.

It was suspended from a telephone pole guy wire. Two loud explosions preceded the demonstration.

It was said in Ohio City that several robed men attended church services at Mt. Olive, two miles east of Rockford, when Rev. Porter delivered a sermon on the Klan.

DAMAGE, $20,000

Fire, Explosion Estimate in Dry
Cleaning Plant.

Damage was estimated at $20,000 Tuesday morning to the Faultless Dry Cleaning plant, corner North and Cool-sts., by Glenn Seals, owner of the company, following a fire and explosion Monday noon. The origin of the fire is yet undetermined.

The entire rear wall of the plant was blown out by the force of the explosion when a large tank of cleaning fluid exploded. Two lines of hose were laid by firemen before the blaze was brought under control.

Four employees of the plant, Walter Morris, Jesse Paulette, Miss Opal Parks and Gail McGinnis, who were in the building at the time, escaped injury.

The property is owned by Sam Weinfield, at present in California.

YELLOW AND RED TAXIS COLLIDE

Latter Car is Forced Between Tree and Pole.

A Red Top taxi in charge of H. M. Dean and a Yellow cab in charge of George Wesby, came together at the corner of Market and Metcalf-sts., at 6 a. m. Tuesday, jamming the Red Top taxi between a pole and a tree, next to the curb, tearing off the rear wheels and caving in the top. The Yellow cab was headed south in Metcalf-st and the other vehicle going west in Market-st at the time of the accident. The Yellow cab was only slightly damaged.

Two taxis of the Red Top company came together at the corner of Linden and McPherson-avs late Saturday night, turning both over in the street. They were badly damaged by the impact.

There were no passengers in the cabs at the time of the accidents and neither of the drivers was injured.

Wiring was completely burned out in a Red Top taxi in charge of Darrell Staup, while in front of the Graham Ice Cream plant.

"PLUGGING IN" DECLARED CAUSE OF HEART DISEASE

LODI, Calif. — The state industrial accident commission is holding hearings here to determine whether a telephone operator can develop heart disease by reaching to a switchboard several hundred times a day. Mrs. Elsie L. Lykens, former operator in the local offices of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, has asserted she developed heart trouble as the result of continuous "plugging in" of calls and has filed an application for compensation.

An allopathic physician, an osteopath and a chiropractor who have attended the operator, testified in support of her contention. Attorneys for the company have classed the case as unusual and important inasmuch as it may establish a precedent. They say it is the first case of its kind among 13,000 girls employed by the company.

TIRE MEN TO COMPLETE ORGANIZATION WEDNESDAY

A committee of local tire dealers appointed to draw up a code of ethics in business and advertising practices, met with R. E. Ashley, assistant manager of the Board of Commerce, Monday night in the board offices and formed a preliminary organization.

A dinner meeting of all tire dealers in Lima will be held at the Barr hotel at 6 p. m. Wednesday to act on the recommendations of the committee. A permanent organization of tire dealers will be formed at that time.

SWEETS DONATED

Eight cartons of sweetened popcorn known as "crackerjack" was donated by Richard Baird, St. Marys wholesaler, to inmates of the Auglaize-co infirmary.

Cocoon Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoon oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoon oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Adv.

AUTO FOR NURSE
A second-hand automobile was bought for $275.00 by the Auglaize-co health board for conveyance of the county nurse, whenever one is employed. There is no nurse on duty at present. Automobile hire for the nurse last year totaled $750.

For Swollen Joints

Most remedies fail but Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's for joint troubles only, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, finger or spine—whether rheumatic or not.

It limbers up stiff, inflamed, painful, creaky joints so quickly you'll be astonished.

Two seconds' rubbing and away it goes through skin and flesh right down to the bone and ligaments—that's why it succeeds. Ask Green's Public Drug Store or any reliable druggist.

How to Avoid Flu

Avoid the influenza-pneumonia by obeying these rules:

Keep out of the sickroom as much as possible.

Keep your children dry and warm.

Avoid those who cough or sneeze.

Keep the nose well greased with an ointment containing a germicide.

If you cough or sneeze, use your handkerchief.

Prevent colds, as a cold today may lead to influenza tomorrow.

Do not overeat or overdrink.

Here is a formula for one of the most successful ointments used during the epidemic of last year. It is a combination of the old-time remedies of turpentine (which for years has been the best home germicide), camphor and menthol. It is called Turpo and is the only turpentine ointment. Turpo is also a good preventive for colds.

Your druggist has a jar for you.

If influenza develops, go to bed and call a doctor.

LETTER FROM LESLIE HAMILTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

LOVER MINE:

I am sitting in my drawing room. It is very late. There is no more passing before my door; nothing assails my ears except the sound of the pounding wheels underneath the car which keeps saying, "The miles are lengthening between you—the miles are lengthening between you—the miles are lengthening between you."

The monotony of the refrain is maddening, even if the fact were not breaking my heart—my sad heart, which keeps trying to bridge those weary miles that are stretching out further and further from me to you.

Hearts, you know, are never worldly, never practical. They do not reason, they only feel—and that is why perhaps they are bruised and hurt so often.

Tonight my heart is crying out to that part of my brain we humans call reason, that it has basely persuaded me to give up that which I know now makes existence life, for the sake of following out some silly convention of society.

I want you so, lover mine, I want you so. Everything in the world sinks into nothingness beside the want of you.

But my reason insists that weddings must be prepared for just as births and burials must be given thought and preparation. Life is not all feelings and impulse. In fact I am afraid we will find more responsibility and duty in it than romance and dreams. Altho I hate it, tonight, I know more than ever before that convention after all is but a alking into a universal rule the duties imposed on mankind by necessity and convenience. I close my hand over my clamoring heart and listen to the sane counsels of reason.

You know, John dear, that my mother would never have forgiven me had I slipped away and married you without telling anyone know, as you wanted me to do. Mothers want to make the world think, at least, that their daughters are going to something better than they have ever had before, and much of the compensation which will come to my mother for losing her daughter will be the glory of sending me to you in the proper manner.

So there must be wedding bells and waxes and flowers and bridesmaids and clothes, and chests of linen and wedding presents and the round of social affairs that come before. Oh, how I shall hate those social affairs, for you, John, will not be with me!

All the time I am bowing and smiling and accepting felicitations and good wishes, I shall be wishing that I was beside you in the little roadster, hurrying along a deserted country road where the twilight shuts down between the shadowy trees that line its sides and the moon is faintly showing as it comes up over the hills in the distance.

"The miles are lengthening between you—the miles are lengthening between you!" How I wish I could close my ears to what those wheels are saying!

You will not forget anything about me, will you, John? You will remember just how my mouth looked when you bent over me to kiss me? You shall remember the touch of my hand—the intonation of my voice—and the unhappiness my whole being expressed when you were leaving me? I could not bear to have you forget.

John, dear John, the unhappiness of parting is mine, now. Those insistent wheels are bumping along not upon the iron rails but upon my heart, saying over and over again, "The miles are lengthening between you."

I do hope you are writing me tonight. Even if you do, the earliest I can hear from you will be two days from now, after I have been home at least 12 hours. But whatever you are writing or not, lover mine, you cannot take from me this sad happiness—yes, John, there is such a thing as sad happiness, but only lovers know it—of sitting here and writing to you.

I am very impatient to get home.

I am very impatient to tell them at home about you.

Dad, dear old dad, will be gruff in his questions, but I know he will give his consent when I tell him that only you can make me happy. Mother, John, will be rather proud, you are so good looking, dear.

Whatever mothers may say about their grief at losing their daughters, every mother feels happier when she sees her girl well settled; when she knows that she has begun to fulfill her destiny. No mother likes to feel that her daughter cannot exert that feminine lure which brings to her the love of a good man.

John, my mother will love you and my father respect and admire you. Alice, my young sister, will adore you—and I, lover mine? You are already a part of you: loving, loving, LESLIE.

Dear Miss Smart:
I have been going with a young man and he says he loves me, but I know that sometimes he goes out with other girls. I am in love with him and he has asked me to become engaged to him, but I don't know whether to believe him or not. Do you think he would care to go out with other girls if he really was in love with me?

DOUBTFUL
If the young man really cared for you he should prefer your company to that of any other girl and should be willing to give up his attentions to others if he had the assurance of your love. You have not yet given him your promise and until you are engaged to him, you cannot expect to monopolize his attentions.

Dear Miss Smart:
I am a girl 23 years old. I have been going with a young man for a year, but am not engaged to him. He has given me several beautiful presents and I would like to purchase him a rather expensive birthday gift. Can a group of friends be invited to give a group of gifts to him in a few weeks. What would you suggest?

R. T.
So long as you are not engaged it is not good taste for you to give the young man an expensive gift. Books, a desk accessory or your photograph would be permissible.

Dear Miss Smart:
Will you please answer my questions:
(1) Can you please give me a few peppy nicknames for Cecilia and Mary?
(2) What is a good way to help one break the habit of biting one's nails?
(3) How is one to write?
BLUE-EYES AND BROWN-EYES
(1) Cell or "C" might be good nicknames for Cecilia. Mary is very short as it is—perhaps, Mac would apply.
(2) Dip the nails in asafetida.
(3) This is helpful, but harmless.
(4) Good.

TO MARRIED WOMAN:
Please have your girl send her name to Miss Smart and she will forward it to me. I'll find some way then of meeting this wonderful girl.

Devout Christian.

Dear Miss Smart:
Is it correct for children to say, "Yes, ma'am." "No, sir." "A MOTHER." No, these are antiquated forms. A child should be taught to say, "Yes, mother." "No, Mrs. Smith."

Dear Miss Smart:
I am modern and up-to-the minute, but believe that a girl should keep her kisses for the man who is engaged to her. No, I don't want any kissing games at my party and most of the affairs given by the crowd have depended upon kissing games for most of the evening entertainment. Can't a group of young people have a good lively time without indulging in such games?
WIT-NEW IDEAS
Of course they can. Almost every home has a piano or victrola; you can depend upon dancing for the greater part of the evening's entertainment. I don't believe people of the ages you mention are too young for cards. Perhaps they would enjoy bridge or rum?

MICHAEL SAYERS, arch criminal. Sayers is known to Greyes under the alias of Stanfield. Michael drives in a small car to Brown's bank in the suburb of Leeds, shoots the manager thru the shoulder, strikes the clerk senseless and robs the bank of over 7,000 pounds. Stepping from the back into a touring car in which JANE ROALE, his confederate, awaits him, Sayers races for Scotland. A confederate named Roberson takes care of the small car and is arrested and freed for want of evidence. Michael passes the stolen notes to men in two motor cars and a motorcycle, leaving no evidence of theft on Sayers' person.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
SIR NORMAN RESUMES
"You seem to have done everything possible, Rimmington," I said at last. "But I think, as my Norway trip has fallen flat, I shall go up to Scotland for a fortnight. Would you like me to call over at Leeds and see if I can pick up anything?"
"Exactly what I hoped you would suggest," he confessed eagerly. "I have brooded over the affair so long that I can think of nothing but the obvious side. The Chief will give you a letter to the Leeds people. Would you like me to come with you?"

I shook my head.
That night I traveled down to Leeds.
There was nothing about the neighborhood which differed materially from Rimmington's description. I paid a visit to the place at exactly the hour the robbery had been committed, walked from the grocery store to the bank, carefully timing myself, and made some trifling purchases inside the shop. The neighborhood seemed to be thickly built over and populated in patches, but here and there were vacant lots. The land opposite the grocery was marked out for building, but operations as yet had not been begun. Later in the day I tracked Roberson to ground in his favorite public-house, choosing my opportunity. I addressed him.
"Are you the man whom the police made such idiots of themselves about in this bank robbery?" I asked.

neither of them budged from the car."
I smiled in a superior way and went on sketching. He watched me with thinly veiled anxiety.
"Toffs they were," he went on, "on their way up for a bit of sport."
"Maybe," I commented. "They didn't seem in any hurry about it."
"What do you mean?"
"I don't see why they stayed at the Queen's two nights," I remarked.
"Who said they did?" he demanded. "They stayed one night, and grumbled at having to do that."

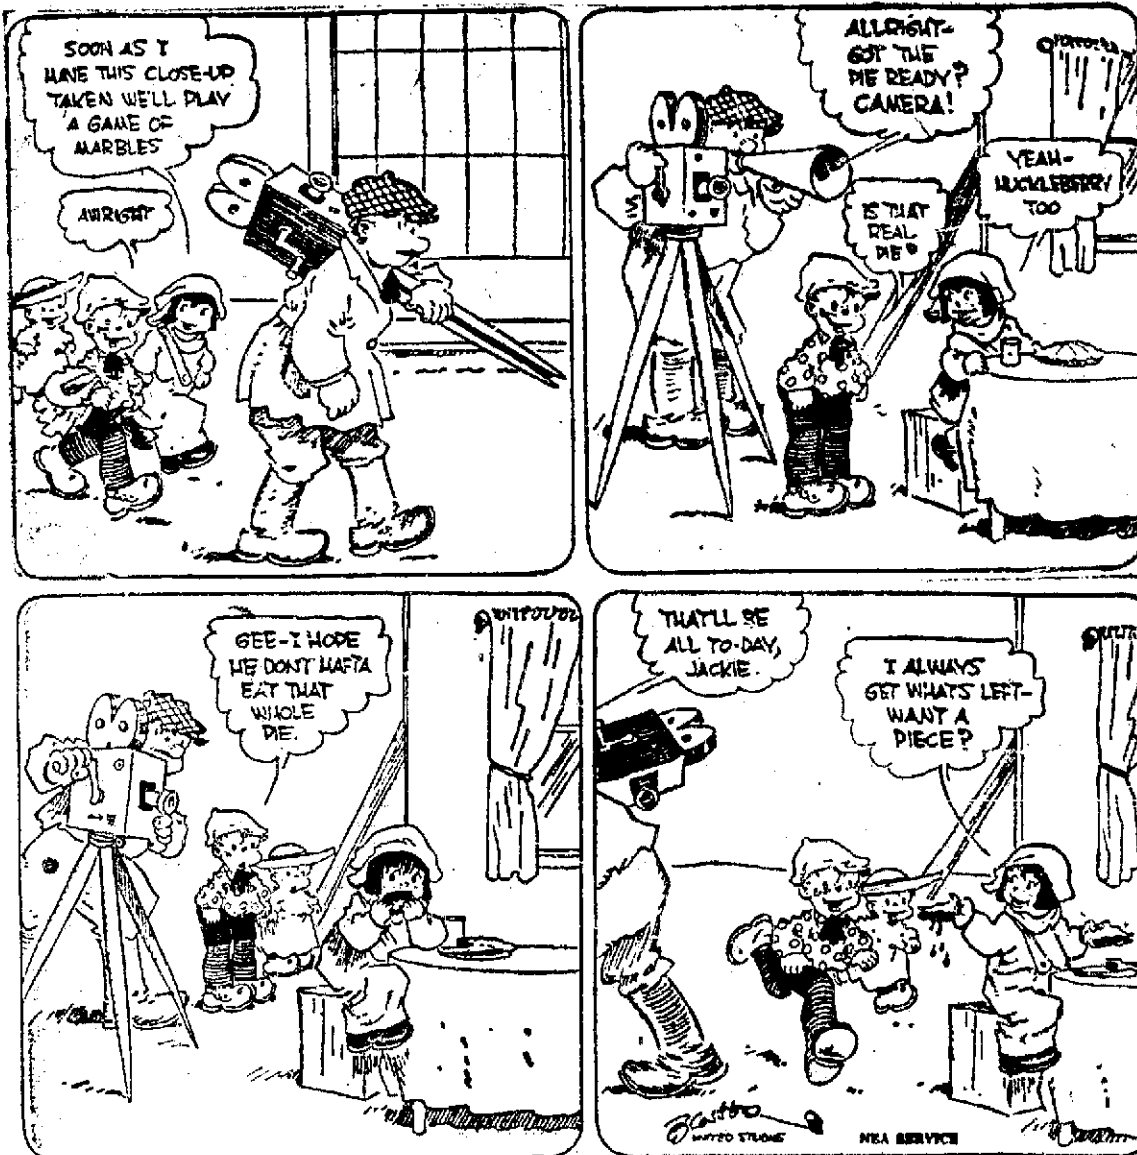

"THERE ARE LIMITS TO MY CANDOR," I PROTESTED MILDLY. "WHAT I MAY SUSPECT I KEEP TO MYSELF."

"How do you know?" I asked, looking up at him.
"I spoke to the chauffeur," he replied sulkily. "He told me my oil was leaking."

I changed the subject, finished my ridiculous sketch, and handed over the five pounds. That night I caught the mail train to Scotland. It took me less than a week to discover the whereabouts of the man and the woman who I learned were passing under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grover. On the morning after my arrival at the very remote corner of Scotland where they had taken up their temporary abode, I committed an indiscretion. I donned a knickerbocker suit and set out for a tramp over the moors. I had just clambered up to the top of a little ridge overlooking the sea, when I came face to face with a little party ascending it from the other side. The little party consisted of the person I had known chiefly as Mr. Stanfield, his wife, a villainous-looking gillie, and two dogs. It was a curious moment, full of suggestions of tragedy afterward, ridiculous in its conventionalities. I saw the flash of the man's gun, and I saw the woman's hand restrain him, heard the single word whispered in his ear. I raised my cap; he followed suit. His gun hung idly under his arm. My hand was inside my breast-pocket, clutching something hard.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS—THIS MOVIE STUFF IS PIE—

By BLOSSER

"What an extraordinary meeting!" Janet exclaimed with a faint smile. "So you sometimes take a holiday also, Sir Norman?"
"Sometimes," I admitted. "I came home unexpectedly from Norway. I was disappointed in my fishing."
"Are you aware that you're trespassing, mon?" the gillie demanded severely.
"I'm afraid I didn't know it," I replied. "There were no notices."
"It doesn't matter," Janet intervened. "We happen to be walking over a covey of birds this way."
"I put nothing up," I assured them.
"They lie verra close hereabouts," the gillie observed. "We'll take a little further sweep."
"How long are you staying in these parts, Sir Norman?" Stanfield inquired.
"About a week, if I like the golf," I answered.
"I've taken the Lodge, down there," he pointed out. "Call and see us before you leave."
"Won't you come and dine with us tonight?" Janet invited, with a challenge in her eyes.
I hesitated. "The invitation appealed to me in one way as much as it repelled me in another. Stanfield watched me as tho he were reading my thoughts.
"You need not take salt," he said grimly.
"I shall be delighted," I assented. "About eight o'clock I suppose?"
"Not about," I implored you," Janet answered earnestly. "Sandy shall catch you some trout this afternoon, and they must be served to the second. Say a quarter to eight, please."

"I will be punctual," I promised.
I spent the afternoon wandering about the moor, inspecting the golf links and speaking on the telephone. Punctually at twenty minutes to eight I passed up the long, neglected drive and presented myself at the front door of the sumptuous-looking house. The summons of a harsh bell was answered almost immediately by an immaculate butler, Janet, from the other end of the cool white hall, came forward to meet me. The dinner was well cooked; the champagne was excellent; and my host with a twinkle in his eyes, called my attention to the fact that it was opened in my presence. As soon as the last courses were concluded, Janet led the way out onto the flagged terrace, where a table was already arranged with desert and coffee.
"You are a brave man, Sir Norman," my hostess said abruptly.
"Why," I asked.
"You know—and you alone—that I once killed a man—alho you don't altogether know why," she went on softly. "How do you know that I have not within me the makings of a modern Lucrezia? I have read quite a good deal about poisons—may be said even to have studied the subject—and you have delivered your self into my hands."
"Why should you poison me?" I argued. "I will do both you and your husband the credit to believe that you don't bear malice. Revenge is a senseless sentiment."
My host leaned forward in his chair. His face was solemn and brooding.

"You have things against me dating from far back," he said.
I nodded.
"But I am in the same position as Scotland Yard," I reminded him. "For those things I have no case. For those misdemeanors of which I suspect you in the past, I could at the present moment go only so far as to procure a warrant charging you with feloniously wounding a police inspector. For the rest, I suspect, but I have no proof."
"You suspect what?" he asked.
I shook my head.
"There are limits to my candor," I protested mildly. "You must admit that I am not secretive or unduly aloof, inasmuch as I dine at your table, discuss your peccadilloes and pass on, like an ordinary guest. What I may suspect of the past I keep to myself. I am your enemy, and you know it. If it pays you to attempt to murder me, I imagine you will try."
"Janet would desert me if I did," he declared with a grim smile. "She finds these little conferences with you so inspiring."
She looked at me with that wonderful smile of hers. She was a little way behind a pillar, and her face was hidden from her husband.
"I do not like to hear you say that we are enemies," she murmured.
"I would rather think that we are like the soldiers who fight in two opposing armies. We fight because it is our duty. So we are enemies because it is our duty. Even that does not interfere with personal feelings."
"That is true," I admitted carelessly. "I could never absolutely dislike a man who played such good golf as your husband."

"And what about me?" she demanded.
"You give me to be obvious," I replied. "No one could possibly dislike a person who contributed to the beauty of the world."
She laughed softly.
"Why, you are a courtier, Sir Norman," she declared. "Your compliments and the perfume of those roses and the flavor of the Benedictine are getting into my head. I begin to picture you as the serpent who has crawled into this Utopian paradise."
"Talking about golf," her husband intervened in a harsh tone. "What about a game, Sir Norman? Will you play me tomorrow morning?"

IS GLAD TO TELL OTHER PEOPLE

Lima Man's Awful Pain And Misery Relieved By The Plant Juice

WAS UNABLE TO DO WORK

When sick, discouraged men and women take this herbal medicine, Plant Juice, and are relieved of their suffering, they are glad to tell others about the remedy that helped them because they want other suffering people to get the same relief that they did.

MR. J. D. COX

That is why so many Lima people are publicly endorsing Plant Juice. They want to help others as they have been helped.

Another Lima citizen who publicly endorses the Plant Juice is Mr. J. D. Cox, of 408 North Pine street, Lima, who recently called on The Plant Juice Man at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, and gave the following surprising testimonial:
"I had suffered for months with awful pains in my side and all through my body," said Mr. Cox. "My bones ached all the time and my head hurt. My kidneys were out of order and caused bad pains in my back and I would have to get up several times every night. In addition to this, I was afraid to eat because even the lightest of foods would cause bad bloating spells and I was nearly always in awful misery with my bowels. Finally, I got so bad off that I could not work."
"I started taking your Plant Juice medicine and began to improve at once. I am now greatly improved and the pains in my back and head have been relieved so much that I hardly notice them. My bowels are in good condition; I eat and sleep well and do not have that awful misery in my side any more. My kidneys are improving right along also and I can say that your Plant Juice is a great medicine because it has done for me what other medicines had failed to do and I am glad to tell others about it."

The Plant Juice Man is at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, Lima, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.
Plant Juice is sold also in Lima at Hunter's drug store at Main and Wayne streets and at the Argonne drug store, opposite Post Office. — Adv.

CLOGGED DRAINS ARE DANGEROUS

A prominent Health Officer says:

"I urge the use of Concentrated Lye in all traps and drains. Nothing but a strong lye will cut the accumulated grease and filth and thoroughly sterilize the drain."

MUCH of the grease from the kitchen sink sticks to the drain pipe. It soon ferments and starts bad odors. Unless it is often removed it breeds germs and threatens the family's health. Nothing cleans a foul drain as quickly and thoroughly as Babbitt's Lye used as directed below. This powerful solvent dissolves the grease in a hurry—turns it into soft soap which is easily flushed out. It leaves the drain not only clean and odorless but completely sterilized and safe.

No Once-A-Year Job

You can't afford to wait until the drain becomes obstructed. That's too risky. If you want to feel safe all the time, use Babbitt's Lye at least twice a week every week. Many disinfectants are so expensive that the cost becomes burdensome if used freely. But even when used liberally the cost of Babbitt's is trifling.

For Drains:

Put into the opening of the drain two tablespoonfuls of dry Babbitt's Lye and trickle in very slowly a half gallon of hot water. After ten minutes flush freely from the faucet.

Raising Microbes

Every neglected garbage can is a microbe nursery. In just such places microbes and disease germs thrive and multiply. Merely rinsing the can is a waste of time; a mere disinfectant may neutralize odors but does not cleanse. If you want to kill the lurking germs that menace the family's health you've got to use lye. And to be on the safe side use Babbitt's as directed below.

Sterilizes As It Cleans

Babbitt's dissolves every fragment of garbage left behind, cuts the grease right down to the iron and kills the odors. It sterilizes everything it touches and leaves the can clean and sanitary. Use Babbitt's twice a week at least. It costs so little and goes so far you can afford to use it unsparingly.

For Garbage Cans:

With an old broom sweep the inside of the can with two tablespoonfuls of Babbitt's Lye dissolved in 4 quarts of hot water. Rinse with clear water and dry in the sun.

JAKE GROSS TO FIGHT JOE PEPPERS AT BUCYRUS

FIRST BATTLE IN FOUR MONTHS

HELEN WELLS EXPECTED TO WIN HIGH TENNIS HONORS

BALL PLAYERS TO BE FETED

CAGE SEASON IS NEARING END

Following the announcement a few days ago, that Jake Gross and Willie Ames would stage the main attraction of the next boxing show to be held at Memorial Hall, March 23, fans seemed anxious to see how Jake would look in his first fight since injuring his hand last fall at Massillon.

However, the Lima battler has been anxious to take on some other boy before meeting Ames, and it was announced yesterday that contracts had been signed for Gross to battle Joe Peppers, a Cleveland sensation, at Bucyrus next Monday night.

Peppers is under the tutelage of Jimmy Dunn and is fast gaining a reputation. He is regarded as a hard hitter and he claims 16 straight victories since climbing into the ring for the first time several months ago.

This claim is open to dispute and is disputed by Willie Ames who met the Cleveland boy at Spring, O., several weeks ago. No decision was given and both leather pushers claimed the victory. And both were backed up in their claims by fans, while the majority of those who saw the fight agreed that the battle was a good draw.

Peppers will meet Gross on his first appearance in the ring since November 13 and is expected to turn in a battle with plenty of action. The battle at Bucyrus, coming two weeks before the local engagement with Ames will put Jake in fine fettle for the encounter here and should Gross take a decisive victory over the Cleveland flash, his stock would rise considerably for the coming match with Ames.

WILDE SURE TO COME HERE

NEW YORK — There was some skepticism in sporting circles today over the prospect of Jimmy Wilde leaving his home in England to come to this country and defend his title as world's champion flyweight against Pancho Villa, the little Filipino who lost the American title in the division to Frankie Genaro, of New York, here last week.

While there was some doubt expressed over the success of Promoter Tom O'Rourke who announced that he had received a cable from the world's champion accepting terms for a bout with Villa on June 16 there was a general hope that Wilde would come.

O'Rourke announced that although no flat sums were mentioned, as guaranteeing them is against the New York law — he offered Wilde 37 1/2 per cent of the gate receipts. Villa would take 12 1/2 per cent.

GREB CHARGED WITH BRIBE

NEW YORK — Charges that Harry Greb of Pittsburgh who was recently defeated for the light heavyweight championship by Gene Tunney, gave $3,000 to New York boxing writers to boom him for a bout with Jack Dempsey will be submitted to William Muldoon, chairman of the state athletic commission, for investigation, the New York World says today.

The Pittsburgh Gazette-Times quoted Greb as saying he gave up the sum to local writers under protest.

The World telegraphed Greb, inquiring whether he was correctly quoted and he wired a denial. The World then wired Charles J. Doyle who wrote the article for the Gazette-Times, and Doyle sent back word that there was no mistake.

RAIN KEEPS RUTH FROM PLAYING

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. — Rain which kept Babe Ruth indoors all of yesterday again early today threatened to keep the restless Bambino peering wistfully from his window out upon a dreary world.

Fully recovered from the attack of "flu" which sent the big batsman to bed last Friday, Ruth was yet obedient to the instructions of his careful physician and avoided any exposure. He waited in patiently for the doctor to say he was ready to leave his quarters in New Orleans.

The very first day he reaches New Orleans, Ruth declares he will don a "unit" and get a regular workout.

HELEN WELLS

(BY J. J. NEWMAN)
Helen Wells, diminutive Californian miss, looms up upon the tennis horizon as the logical opponent for the world's title-holder, Miss Lenglen, in the next two or three years.

Her matches last summer against our own national champion, Mrs. Mallory, proved beyond a doubt that the little girl from the far west has the making of a coming world's champion.

I will never forget the match that Helen played against the famous Molla at Boston last summer in the final round of the Massachusetts state championship.

Miss Wells won the first set from the invincible Molla with little or no effort and was well on her way to her first victory over the Norwegian girl when the latter staged one of her famous rallies and after a heartbreaking game captured the set.

Molla's experience stood her in good stead during this match, for she was outplayed in every stage of the game by the little coast marvel. The great fighting qualities that the national champion has always Lima Rotary club, which is to entertain the baseball players of the Giant and Mud Hen teams, which play in Lima April 9 and 10, is preparing a Gala night at the Elks home on April 9.

The affair will open at 6:30 p. m. with a dinner and will be followed by talks and stunts by visiting ball players and prominent men of Lima. Plans are being made to invite Judge Landis to attend the meeting and, according to those backing the affair, there is more than a bare chance of the "Big Mogul" of the diamond coming to Lima.

The closing feature of the program will be a ten round battle between a Lima militiaman and an out-of-town opponent. Four battlers, who are being considered are Jake Gross, Red Young, Babe Bream and Don Baxter; although nothing definite has been done regarding the fight.

The committee in charge of the affair plans to limit the number of tickets sold to 450.

Jap Youngsters Tireless; Play Ball All Day Long

Baseballing in Japan is getting more strenuous each year. Like American kids, Japanese youngsters are zealous fans, and play all day long. This impressed American big league stars who played there, according to the story of the trip told to Billy Evans.

BY WAITE HOYT
New York American Pitcher and World Series Hero.

The thing that interested me most on the entire trip were the Japanese youngsters.

I was much interested in seeing the attitude they took toward the game. The kids are for it strong. The Jap youngsters seem tireless. They start playing early in the morning and keep going until dark.

At Yokohama there was a big recreation park for the youngsters, where baseball gets a great play. After 10 one morning I dropped by and watched a kid game for a half hour or so. Several of the youngsters had certain styles that impressed me and one chap was a bit of a clown.

Late in the afternoon I again passed by, and the game was still in progress. The runs were well up in the hundreds. That sort of spirit is a real well for the future of baseball in Japan. The popularity and growth of baseball rests with the youngsters. That being the case, Japan is certain to prosper.

The Japs are progressive. They combine educational features with their baseball.

As I mentioned in another article, the youngsters play with a ball similar to our tennis ball, only a trifle larger. On every ball is an educational feature. Some of the balls have a map of the world in color printed on the cover, others have the alphabet, and so on. A series of educational features seemed to go with every ball game.

While our trip abroad proved the Japs still had a long way to go to reach our standard of play, still it must be admitted they are making rapid progress.

The youngsters watched our every move on the field closely, and the next day you could see some of the kids essaying to imitate some outstanding characteristics of the American players.

I wouldn't have missed the trip, for anything, but I certainly was glad to get home.

WALTER HAGEN IN MOVIES

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — Like all champions, Walter Hagen, golfer extraordinaire, has gone into the movies.

For the past month Hagen has given up the golf game as a business for that of movie actor.

It is generally believed that Hagen's debut into filmdom, as to be of an educational nature. The impression prevailed that he would merely show the proper way to make various shots, also the incorrect way, and that the pictures would be slowed up so that every golf enthusiast would have a chance to help his game.

College coaches in football and rowing have found the movies of great aid in perfecting form. Slow motion pictures are made of the men in action, and then the faults pointed out as the pictures are thrown on the screen.

There is no reason why such a stunt wouldn't go big in golf, particularly with Hagen doing the stuff.

However, it is said that Hagen has been playing the lead in a regular feature picture in which golf plays only a minor part.

Bush Hopes To Beat Tigers

WASHINGTON — Trimming Detroit will probably be the most interesting thing in the life of Manager Donie Bush of the Washington club this summer.

It is a well known fact that there is no love lost between the former Tiger shortstop and the present Detroit manager. The bad feeling will probably make itself manifest on the ball field this season.

It was Cobb who asked for waivers on Bush. Had it not been for the refusal of the Washington club to waive it is possible that Bush would now be doing service in the minors.

Washington needed a veteran utility infielder, and Bush was secured to fill any gaps that might occur in the infield. Now fate has decreed that he be manager of the club.

Cobb has pennant aspirations this year and his club looks to have a chance. Washington doesn't loom up as a pennant contender, but no doubt Bush will take great pleasure in seeing his team play its best ball against the Tigers.

JIMMY O'CONNELL LOOKS GOOD TO GIANT MANAGER

SAN ANTONIO. — Jimmy O'Connell, $75,000 outfielding star from California is a real find and will be a big hit with the Giants, in the opinion of baseball experts here with the world champions.

O'Connell has impressed everyone with his ability with the stick and his fielding has also been high.

"We expected O'Connell to make good and he is not disappointing us. We did not pay all that money for him as a pure gamble. We had found out a lot about him before we bought him," John McGraw, manager of the team, said.

McGraw says that O'Connell has been the job in centerfield and he has told the youngster to take his time and not to get nervous.

High Jennings and Casey Dolan, McGraw's two lieutenants, have been working out with O'Connell and both think he is a great ball player.

In the event that Dave Bancroft refuses to join the club, McGraw may use Jackson as a regular shortstop or he may use Frank Frisch, a short and McGuire, former Holy Cross star, at second.

OPEN ALLEYS TO LADIES

The Elks' bowling alleys, which have been closed to women for the greater part of the season, will from now on be open Friday nights, according to an announcement Monday.

A mixed doubles tournament will be started Friday night and it is expected that a large entry list will be turned in before the first night.

STARTS TRAINING

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. — Training quarters to be used by Jess Willard, former world's champion heavyweight boxer, for his coming bout with Floyd Johnson, in New York May 12, were obtained here today.

CAGE SEASON IS NEARING END

(BY MERRICK M. HILL)
The curtain on scholastic basketball will be rung down Friday night when Central High meets Findlay at Central gym and St. Rose plays Hamilton at St. Rose auditorium.

The Findlay game is expected to end with a win for the Red and Green basket shooters, who are working as hard during the last week of the season as they did during the first week.

The two teams met earlier in the season and Central sent Findlay down for the count. Since then the upstate quintet has been working with one object in view—to beat Central at Lima.

St. Rose was originally scheduled to Decatur, Ind., five, at Decatur, but athletic officials at St. Rose decided that it would be better to end the season with a home game and for that reason, Hamilton was booked in place of the Decatur outfit.

The down-staters defeated the Irish quintet earlier in the year at Hamilton and expect to again turn the trick Friday night.

Coach Baker, however, was greatly elated Monday when three more players reported for practice than for works. Wells, Duchan and Daly, who have been out on account of illness were at practice and with their presence, it is likely that St. Rose will put up a hard fight to win the finale of the year.

Great interest is being shown in game because Phares, Hamilton forward, and Elmo Wells, St. Rose forward, who are running neck and neck for parochial school scoring honors will be playing in the same game and the work Friday night will decide the honors.

BARRY MAKES NEW RECORD

IOWA CITY, Ia. — For a basketball coach to turn out a runner-up aggregation in his first year as a Western Conference mentor is considered a remarkable showing. But for such a coach to turn out a title winner — that's something more.

Sam Barry has done this for Iowa, the team winning the Big Ten championship with 11 victories and no defeats.

And when you add to this the fact that he had only one veteran on his squad, it's easy to explain why Sam Barry is an idol at Iowa University.

Burgitt, center, and Hicks, captain and guard, are the only men Barry had available from last year's varsity. Laude and Janse have developed into effective scorers. Gitt, one of the Big Ten's best guards last year, is in far better form. The work of Hicks and Punk, guards, has been brought to near perfection by Barry — all within one season.

Basketball has become a real major sport at Iowa as a result of the great showing being made. Attendance has reached the point where the big new armory, which seats 7,000, is none too big to house the enthusiasts when the cagers play on their home campus.

This is Barry's first Big Ten team, but not his first great basketball showing. As athletic director at Knox (college he gave the Galesburg, Ill., college championship teams in several branches of sport.

RACES CERTAIN

INDIANAPOLIS — The famous Indianapolis speedway races will be held on Memorial Day—the usual date.

This was definitely established today when the Indiana state senate, just before adjourning sine die, refused to override the veto of Governor Warren McCray's re-opening commercial sports, including the classic 500-mile race, being staged on Memorial Day.

The bill was fostered by the American Legion.

STATE CAGE TITLE TO BE DECIDED AT COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS — Thirty-two Ohio high school basketball teams, sixteen in the class A, division and a like number in class B, will gather here this week-end to decide the high school basketball championships of the state in their respective divisions.

Last Friday and Saturday, in various sections of the state, several hundred teams played elimination rounds in each division. Survivors, including the winner and runnerup in each division in each of the tournaments held in the state will battle for premier honors, beginning probably Friday noon.

While definite plans have not been completed by the Ohio Athletic Association under whose auspices the championship series will be staged, all games no doubt will be played at the Coliseum in the Ohio State Fair Grounds.

The names of the teams and the districts which they are from follow.

Central division — Class A, Columbus West and Columbus South, tournament held at Delaware.

Eastern division — Class A, East Liverpool and Marietta, tournament held at Zanesville.

Northeastern division — Class A, Youngstown Rayen and Alliance, tournament held at Akron.

Southwestern division — Class A, Dayton Steele and Cincinnati Norwood, tournament held at Oxford.

Y CAGE FINALS AT YOUNGSTOWN

YOUNGSTOWN — Pat Brannon, local Y. M. C. A. physical director, and chairman of the Ohio Y. M. C. A. athletic committee, announced that the final basketball series for the Y. M. C. A. championship of Ohio will be held in Zanesville Saturday March 10. The four teams eligible for the finals are Youngstown, Columbus, Cincinnati Norwood and Marion, southwestern section. Each of these teams has won the association championship in its respective section. In all 18 teams have competed.

The finals for the Ohio championship will be played in an elimination series starting Saturday afternoon. The champion game will be played Saturday night.

GIBBONS WINS

CHICAGO — Tom Gibbons, St. Paul, Minn., heavyweight, had little trouble in knocking out Jim Tracey of Australia, in the second round of a scheduled ten round boxing contest in East Chicago, Ind., last night. Tracey went to his corner at the end of the first round groggy from a body and head punching, and the St. Paul boxer scored easily with body and head punches in the second. It was a right cross which put Tracey down for a ten count after he had gone down once for a count of nine.

FIGHT RESULTS

Philadelphia — Jimmy Mondo, Philadelphia, outpointed Joe Lynch, maintenance champion, in an eight round bout, according to newspaper decision.

Columbus — K. O. Mares, Cincinnati lightweight and Bud Christiano, Chicago, boxed a 12 round draw.

Philadelphia — Melky Walker, welterweight champion, outclassed Johnnie Gill, York, Pa., in eight rounds.

Madeline Uffell, 911 Greenlawn, writes about a woman in her neighborhood who has two children, Mabel, aged five and Ralph, aged three. One day the past winter when it was snowing, Mabel and Ralph were playing by a window when Ralph said to his sister, "Mabel, where can fathers come from?" Mabel ran to her mother who was in the next room and asked, "Mother, where do the fathers come from?" "Why that is snow, dear, not feathers, and our Heavenly Father sends it down from the clouds," answered the mother. Mabel ran back to Ralph and said, "Its snow Ralphie and our Heavenly Father sends it down." "Heavenly Father," queried Ralph. "Oh yes, I know, that must be our step father."

Luther Cook, Lima R. D. 4, submits this one: "Not long ago a sleighing party was returning from a ride when a young man stepped backward out of the sleigh and fell. After running some distance, he caught up with the sled and was heard to remark, 'I ran my nose into the ground two inches and never smelled a thing.'"

"While visiting at a home, Mary aged three inquired of her mother, 'Is daddy rich?' 'Yes very rich,' replied the mother. 'He is worth several thousand what mother?' 'Oh,' replied the mother, 'He values you at one thousand, me at one thousand and baby at half a thousand.' 'Mother,' Mary replied, 'I wish he would sell the baby and buy us some ice cream.' This is submitted by Mrs. Ida Justice, 216 N. Elizabeth.

"The other day my neighbor's little boy came running over to play with my little four year old daughter. In a few minutes his sister, who is older, came after him. Pushing him toward the door, she said, 'You get home.' Running after him, my little daughter yelled, 'Get for home, Bruno.'"

This was handed in by Mrs. C. M. Archer, 569 S. Metropolitan.

A friend of Raymond Kurtz, 731 Oakst., tells the following: "Our teacher was reviewing the invasion by Napoleon. Referring to the retreat, from Moscow, she asked, 'And then, William, what did the French do?' They 'ran away,' William replied. 'Yes, they ran away, but that is incorrect,' said the teacher, 'what should you have said?' After he thought a while, he answered, 'I know, they beat it.'"

WANTS TO HELP OTHER WOMEN

Grateful for Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I am willing to write to any girl or woman who is suffering from the troubles I had before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back aches, my head aches, and I could not go about my housework, and I had other troubles from weakness. I was this way for years, then my sister-in-law took the Vegetable Compound and recommended it to me. In the time I have been taking it and it has done wonders for me. I keep house and am able to do lots of work besides."—Mrs. Helen Sevcik, 2711 Thomas St., Chicago, Ill.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the worth of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years this same sort of experience has been reported by thousands of women.

Mrs. Sevcik is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

Physicians advise keeping the bowels open as a safeguard against grippe or influenza.

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.
